Milk Inquiry Report to Be Sought Today

King Resolution To Be Pushed For Action.

Capper Urges Cut in Distributing Costs in Capital.

The Senate District Committee will be asked at 3 p. m. today to return a favorable report on the King resolution calling for a Senate inquiry into conditions holding up the price of local dairy products.

While plans went forward to consider the matter with dispatch, Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, former chairman of the Senate District Committee, threw his support behind the resolution.

Capper Favors Quiz.

Senator Capper said he favors no reduction in the price paid farmers for their milk, but thinks the distributing end of the milk business would bear some scrutiny.

Meanwhile, Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, who succeeded Senator Capper as chairman of the Senate District Committee, said he will exert every effort to get committee action on his resolution this afternoon.

In the event of an immediate report, the resolution would be placed on the Senate calendar. The Utah senator, in that event, will attempt to call it up for an early Senate vote. He made clear that he wants action during the special session.

Trouble With Distributors.

Commenting yesterday on the proposed investigation, Senator Capper, who presided several years ago over a somewhat similar inquiry, said yesterday:

"I think it would be well to go ahead and get the facts, as Senator King proposes. Milk and cream prices do seem to be out of line with charges in other sections of the country.

"But if there is any gouging here, it must be on the part of the distributors. From inquiries I have made, I am certain the farm cooperatives in this locality are not getting too much for their product.

Housing Bill Slated.

"I will support Senator King's resolution so that we can find out what the situation actually is."

Sitting in as a member of the committee will be Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, who District Pays Higher for Other Dairy Products as Well as Milk.

This is the sixth of a series of articles discussing the retail prices in the District of Columbia of milk, cream and other dairy products. The figures used in all these articles are from Government sources and from statistics of the National Milk Cooperative Milk Producers Association.

The family budgets of every home in the District are harder hit by the purchases of dairy products than the purses of the average American family in the leading cities of the country.

Not only does this excessive cost to the consumer apply to milk and cream, but it extends to other dairy products, such as buttermilk, butter and certified milk.

Statistics of the Department of Agriculture for April discloses the following interesting figures with respect to the price per quart of certi-

LONDON LOSES PART OF DEBUTANTE SHOW

Cars Go Into Palace Square; King Ill So Prince Takes His Place by Queen.

London, May 11 (A.P.).—London was robbed of its annual show tonight when palace gates were opened early and automobiles of several hundred debutantes to be presented at court were allowed to pass into an inner quadrangle out of sight of the large crowds.

Thus, the four hours of waiting which hitherto have been spent on the Mall, this year were spent beneath the palace windows, with the debutantes and their sponsors playing backgammon and bridge and knitting to while away the time.

They were not even allowed the privilege of a cigarette tonight because a few days ago a request went around that those who were to be presented at the royal court of Buckingham Palace should refrain from smoking during the waiting period.

It was understood the queen considered cigarettes unseemly. In previous years smoking and drinking cocktails from vacuum bottles have been some of the principal diversions among the waiting debutantes.

Nine American women were presented tonight at the first of the year's royal courts. They were among some 400 other persons presented to their majesties.

The Americans included Miss Molly Flagg, of Far Hills, N. J.; Mrs. Robert Frazer, of Philadelphia; Miss Betty Golsan, of Richmond, Va.; the Misses Anne and Marion Howard, of Philadelphia; Miss Hannah Locke, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Grace Robert, of Coronado, Calif., and Mrs. Reginald A. F. Williams, the former Beatrice Candler Cobb, of New York.

At the last moment an attack of rheumatism in a shoulder prevented King George from attending the court, but his place at the side of the queen was taken by the Prince of Wales.

It was announced that his majesty's illness was not serious, but merely prevents the wearing of a uniform.

There will be another court tomorrow night and three others later in the season.

Copper Man Plays Mitchell Case Part

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—A jury was selected in Federal court late today to decide whether Charles E. Mitchell, internationally known banker, defrauded the Government of $858,429.68 in income taxes in 1929 and 1930, a crime for which the maximum penalty is five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Questioning of the talesmen, which took all day, disclosed for the first time that W. D. Thornton, president of the Greene Cananea Copper Co., is the man to whom Mitchell claims he sold certain securities in 1930 at a loss so great that he was not obligated to pay in income tax.

The socially prominent Mrs. Mitchell figured in a similar transaction in 1929. Mitchell subsequently bought back the stock from Mrs. Mitchell and from Thornton, and the Government alleges the sales were spurious and made with the intention of evading the tax.

NEW TAX PLAN AIMS TO CURE JOBLESS PERIL

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A new tax bill designed to raise approximately $200,000,000 a year with which to finance the projected $3,300,000,000 public works program was tentatively agreed upon last night by administration leaders engaged in perfecting President Roosevelt's national reemployment bill.

The new taxes would be directed entirely to stimulating immediate employment.

The bond issue funds would be expended, first, through direct public works; secondly, through Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans to cities, States and private enterprises.

A third section of the bill provides for the mobilization of American industry through existing trade associations for the establishment of effective national standards governing wages and working conditions.

Includes U. S. Sales Tax.

One of the principal objectives of the industrial cooperation program would be to spread employment through shorter working hours, which would be realized by Government-supervised industrial agreements.

In practical application the new revenue measure would provide a Federal sales tax, but limited sharply to the amount necessary to sustain the bond issues contemplated in the public works section of the bill.

From the new taxes would come the additional bond interest plus a reasonable amortization fund, calculated on a 15-year basis.

Reports on Capitol Hill that the modified sales taxes were in the making were confirmed last night by a decision to present the industrial control measure in the House instead of the Senate, to conform to the constitutional requirement that revenue measures shall originate in the House.

A final draft of the Roosevelt recovery act was completed last night by the special committee of congressional and technical advisers charged with the labor at a White House conference Wednesday. The text will be ready for examination by the regular Friday Cabinet meeting this afternoon.

Early Action Promised.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee anticipated last night that President Roosevelt might transmit his recommendations to Congress today. In other quarters, however, the understanding was that the bill would not go to the Capitol before next week.

With the collapse of the Shannon-McFarlane insurrection against re-

Rival's Slayer Gets 5 Years in Prison

Oklahoma City, May 11 (A.P.).—Percy Merrick calmly heard a jury sentence him today to five years in prison on a manslaughter conviction for the shooting of Henry Downs, young Denver basket ball player, whom he ordered from Mrs. Merrick's bedroom last month.

Merrick, a recent employe of the State highway department, said he was temporarily deranged when he shot Downs in a filling station April 15, the day after the athlete's overnight visit in the Merrick home. He also pleaded self-defense.

The accused man will appeal. He comforted his wife, who burst into tears when informed of the verdict. He will be free on $5,000 bail until the jury's sentence is formally passed by the court a week from tomorrow.

Child Labor Amendment Is Ratified by Michigan

Lansing, Mich., May 11 (A.P.).—The Michigan Legislature today ratified the child labor amendment to the Federal Constitution. The House completed action by a vote of 62 to 26, the Senate having previously given its approval.

(Associated Press.)

Michigan, ratifying the child labor amendment yesterday, was the eleventh State to take such action on an amendment which has been pending for the last nine years.

11 Girls Burn to Death In Philippine School

Manila, P. I. (Friday), May 12 (A.P.).—Trapped by bars, 11 girl inmates burned to death today in a fire which destroyed the Philippine Training School for Girls, a government reformatory.

Police, asserting they suspected arson, questioned a matron regarding efforts made to release the victims. Eighty-one inmates escaped.

Levine Ouster Set for Today

Bonus Marchers Here May Then Obey Orders to Merge With Fort Hunt Group; City Bivouac Continued.

A victory fire blazed back of the Washington Auditorium last night—a blaze lighted by a stubborn company of 200 World War veterans who refused to join the bonus convention at Fort Hunt until allegedly "Red" leaders are ousted and who listened to four hours of almost interminable oratory at Seaton Park last night until authorities capitulated in their ultimatum of "Fort Hunt or out" and found a bivouac for the determined company.

Today it was strongly reported by leaders of the veterans' dissenting bloc, by police officials and by sources close to the White House, Emmanuel Levine, storm center member of the veterans' national liaison committee and admitted Communist, will be deposed from the position he occupies on the veterans' group.

Removal of Levine, if such takes place, is expected to effect rapprochement between the insurgents and the 600 already encamped at Fort Hunt. There is still a difference, the smaller group still demands only payment of the bonus while the larger section have more expansive and varied demands.

The latest salient gained by the insurgent veterans is a vacant and bare lot back of the big auditorium. It was not until midnight that the tension was suddenly eased and the men marched off from Seaton Park with a police guard to their new camping ground.

Huddled together 100 yards from the spot where the 1932 bonus riots spark was touched off, the 200 veterans temporarily held the 1933 bonus

ECONOMY RIDER PUT IN INDEPENDENT BILL

Passage of Offices Measure First Order Today Before House.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The House yesterday approved the $165,000,000 economy rider to the independent offices bill without so much as reading its provisions, then blocked an effort to write immediate payment of the bonus into the $535,000,000 measure.

Passage will be the first order of business when the House convenes at 11 a. m. today. Routine approval will send to the Senate legislative authorization for "rotative" Federal furloughs, involuntary 30-year retirements and a State apportionment standard for dismissing excess workers.

Ignoring for the first time recommendations of the President, the House increased the total of the bill by $8,000,000 yesterday to insure the maintenance of existing regional offices of the Veterans' Administration.

The increase was sponsored by a Democrat, Representative McCormack, of Massachusetts. It was approved, 140 to 29, despite the insistence of Representative Woodrum (Democrat), Virginia, that additional money is not necessary to keep the offices open.

Representative Charles V. Truax (Democrat), Ohio, attempted to insert in the bill a plan for cash payment of $2,400,000,000 of bonus money

Ernest Torrence Dying After Versatile Career

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Ernest Torrence tonight appeared to be nearing the end of a career which won him acclaim as a concert pianist, operatic barytone, character actor on the stage and villain on the screen.

His son, Ernest Torrence, jr., disclosed today the Scotch actor had failed to respond to treatment following an operation for gall stones April 25, and that physicians gave him only a few days to live. His condition was unchanged tonight.

REDS TO SELL C. E. R. TO JAPAN'S VASSAL

Deny Chinese Have Rights; Call Treaty Void 'to Keep Peace.'

Moscow, May 11 (A.P.).—Russia told the Chinese Nationalist government tonight that China had no rights in the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria and announced the intention of selling the line to the new state of Manchukuo.

Advising the Nanking regime directly that the Peiping-Mukden treaties of 1924, covering the joint operation of the Chinese Eastern by Soviet Russia and China, were considered void, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff revealed the decision to sell the line to keep peace in the Far East.

Under the Peiping-Mukden agreements, the C. E. R. was supposed to revert to China gratis in 1956 and at any time before that year the Chinese republic was given the right to buy the road from Moscow.

Veterans' Fares Not Forthcoming

Leavenworth, Kans., May 11 (A.P.). The Government is without funds to pay transportation to former places of residence of former service men discharged from the Veterans' Administration Home here, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the administration, has informed Mayor J. H. Miller and Fred D. Bolman, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hines' letter from Washington was in reply to a request that the Government make some provision for transportation, it being pointed out that the Red Cross had no fund for such purpose and the burden was too great for the citizens of Leavenworth.

Approximately 50 veterans are leaving the home daily. As fast as medical examinations are completed, all beneficiaries not eligible to domiciliary care are being discharged. Exception is made in the case of those in such mental or physical condition that their discharge is deemed unsafe.

Farley Pacifies Congress With Patronage Promises

Tells 300 House Democrats They Must Be Patient, for Jobs Will Be Forthcoming; Says Best Men Are Needed.

(United Press.)

Postmaster General Farley, smiling and persuasive, succeeded last night in pacifying 300 House Democrats whom he kept waiting 20 minutes and who were growing impatient over the slow distribution of Federal jobs.

Speaking to the assembled Democratic House members who packed the big caucus room of the Capitol, the generalissimo of Federal patronage pleaded with them to be patient and the jobs would soon be forthcoming. He assured his colleagues that the present patronage system would be continued but explained it would be impossible to fill any jobs before Congress adjourns in June. The withholding of patronage has been President Roosevelt's most effective weapon over Congress.

Apparently, Farley's presentation of the difficulties he faces in filling between 100,000 and 150,000 jobs called, at least temporarily, the muttering frequently heard about the Capitol from Congress members, who are being plagued by party workers in their States.

Speaking frankly, the Postmaster General emphasized that the best interests of the party depended on appointing competent men to the manifold Federal posts and explained that this was the best way for House members themselves to get reelected in 1934.

Assistant Postmaster General J. C. O'Mahoney, who also addressed the Congress members, explained afterwards to newspaper men that the Civil Service Commission will be organized today and will begin promptly to fill the numerous posts with Democrats.

"We fully explained the problem that confronts us not only in our department but generally," Farley said. "There wasn't a visible sign of dissension."

After the caucus every House member present filed by and shook hands with the strapping 6-footer who managed President Roosevelt's successful campaign. There was a general surge of jollification in the meeting, which some had expected from advance reports might hear some dissenting notes.

JAPAN WARNS CHINA PEIPING IS NEXT PRIZE

Enemy Planes Fly Over City Serving Notice of Invasion.

Peiping (Friday), May 12 (U. P.).—A Japanese airplane from the invaders' dawn patrol flew low over Peiping today, dropping pamphlets in Chinese warning the inhabitants that Japan's war machine could be expected to move on the ancient capital immediately.

A Japanese airplane yesterday bombed the Rockefeller Foundation Field Hospital at Chichow, east of Peiping, as Japan's offensive in north China moved rapidly toward the walls of the ancient capital.

Japanese bombs killed five Chinese soldier patients being treated in the hospital, a report to the headquarters here related. Several others were wounded.

Heavy Fighting Reported.

The hospital is a unit of the Peking Union Medical College, supported by the Rockefeller Foundation.

The air raid occurred despite repeated promises by the Japanese military high command that bombardments of American property would be stopped. Other raids occurred on American mission property in the north China war zone recently.

The Chinese military headquarters here reported heavy fighting on the Miyun-Heien sector. Gen. Ho Ying-ching, in command of the north China armies, issued a communique declaring that his forces were resisting stubbornly. However, the Japanese moved irresistibly southward toward Tientsin and Peiping.

Gen. Ho's communique said the Chinese losses south from Nantienmen, below the wall, totaled 600 killed. He said the Chinese resistance would continue.

Chinese Prepare Defense.

The Japanese threw into the attack their combined air, artillery and infantry forces, moving forward in two converging salients.

Bulletins from the front were scanned anxiously by foreigners and Chinese in Peiping, as the advance brought big guns almost within earshot of the city.

The Chinese soldiery prepared feverishly for the defense of the city, but few foreigners expected their activity to stop the Japanese.

Farmhand Confesses Setting $2,000,000 Fire

Ellsworth, Me., May 11 (U.P.).—A young farmhand, formerly a dishwasher and amateur wrestler, confessed today to setting a fire which caused $2,000,000 damage here Sunday night.

The conflagration wiped out 150 dwellings and 35 business blocks. A signed, detailed confession was obtained from Norman Moore, 25, Hancock farmhand, who said, "Something in my head told me to do this."

Bus of Pickets Is Coming To Fight Mortgage Bill

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—A busload of men, women and children left for Washington today to picket the Senate and White House to protest what their leaders called "the betrayal of the home mortgage relief program by the present home mortgage bill." Their trip was sponsored by the Consolidated Home Owners Mortgage Committee, Long Island division.

Boulder, Colo., Menaced By Disaster From Flood

Boulder, Colo., May 11 (A.P.).—The possibility of a flood disaster like that of 1893 which swept through Boulder was being discussed here today as heavy, wet snow piled up in the mountains to feed already swollen streams.

Boulder Canon highway was impassable after a foot of snow had fallen at Ward. It was feared sudden melting of the snow or heavy rains would bring a dangerous flood condition.

Means Passed Whitaker as Red Spy Head

Means' Story

New Version of Lindbergh Case to Be Continued in Court Today.

When the adjournment curtain went down at District Supreme Court yesterday, Gaston B. Means' story was halted at the point where he was about to give his son's motion picture camera to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby so that they might give him photographs that he could have Col. Lindbergh identify.

Perhaps sensing the opportunity of a "serial" break in the tale which the ponderous Means was telling all day, the court called the adjournment. When Means takes the stand this morning he will tell whether the pictures of the infant were taken.

It was a mighty tale that the former Department of Justice agent told the jury. He spared not a single detail and brought the courtroom to its feet when he named "Irving Fenton" and "Wellington Henderson" as members of the band of kidnapers.

Means said that while he and Mrs.

U. S. TARIFF TRUCE STRIKES NEW SNAG

Charge in German Attitude Halts London Plan to Announce Pact.

(Associated Press.)

American diplomacy last night struggled with new difficulties in the way of a world tariff truce while speculation on the possibility that President Roosevelt may make a flying visit to London for the opening of the world monetary and economic conference, June 12, was renewed.

With London dispatches saying German hesitancy had blocked official proclamation of a tariff truce preliminary to the conference, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the Hitler representative, was asked about it by Secretary Hull when they renewed their discussions at the State Department.

The German replied that he had not been advised by his government. Previously he had publicly expressed his government's sympathy with the American tariff truce proposal which he described as a "good idea."

Dr. Schacht was urged to impress upon his government the desirability of agreement to the truce without delay.

While the State Department had no comment on the new obstacles in

2 Scottsboro Boys Stab One of Group

Birmingham, Ala., May 11 (A.P.).—Heywood Patterson, one of nine Negroes in the "Scottsboro case" charged with attacking two white girls, was stabbed and wounded slightly by two of his codefendants in the Jefferson County Jail today.

Wardens at the jail said Patterson, convicted for the second time at Decatur, Ala., recently and sentenced to death, was stabbed in the side by Andy and Roy Wright as the Negroes were being transferred from the night to day cells.

A knife was taken from one of the Wrights and the prison physician took two stitches in Patterson's wound. The Wrights charged Patterson was "overbearing and arrogant" toward them.

Mooney Defense Asks For Police Evidence

San Francisco, May 11 (A.P.).—Leo A. Gallagher, attorney for Thomas J. Mooney, asked Superior Judge Louis H. Ward today to compel San Francisco police to turn over to the defense their evidence in the 1916 preparedness day parade bombing case for inspection prior to Mooney's forthcoming trial.

Gallagher also asked the sheriff's office to serve 49 summonses for the trial, scheduled to start before Judge Ward May 22. The court deferred action on the request for police evidence.

3.2 Beer Laws Invalid, Colorado Judge Decides

Greeley, Colo., May 11 (A.P.).—State and Federal 3.2 per cent beer laws were held unconstitutional today by District Judge Claude C. Coffin and he upheld the city in its refusal to issue beer licenses.

Judge Coffin ruled the State and Federal laws are "clearly invalid" because they "seek to thwart and evade the dry amendments in the United States and Colorado constitutions."

Soviet's Foe Told Murdered Man Was Same.

Press Photo Revealed There Was Mistake Somewhere.

By ROBERT F. WHITNEY.

When Norman T. Whitaker was arrested and his picture published in New York City newspapers, he was recognized as the "head of the Soviet Secret Police" in the United States, by Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the executive committee of the National Civic Federation, it was learned last night.

The fantastic story which this fact unfolds presents ramifications as amazing as those told on the witness stand yesterday by Gaston B. Means in his trial with Whitaker for conspiracy to defraud Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean in connection with the Lindbergh baby ransom.

The tale brings in the unidentified man who a year ago last September was found floating in Chesapeake Bay near Point Lookout, Md., with lead weights tied to his broken neck. The body now lies buried in the sand at Point Lookout.

Had Employed Means.

When Means was first arrested last spring, Mr. Easley, whose organization busies itself with the getting of information concerning alleged "Red" activity in this country, came to Washington.

In an interview at the Willard Hotel he said that Means had been in his employ and had secured much data about Communist "sabotage" in the United States.

He exhibited many newspaper clippings about fire of unknown origin, bank robberies and other acts of violence which he stated Means had investigated and found to be of Communist origin.

And in the telling of the tale, he declared that the body at Point Lookout was that of the head of the O. G. P. U., or Soviet Secret Police, in this country. The man, he said, had been murdered by other Soviet agents because he had been giving information to his (Easley's) agents.

Easley Paid for Data.

Now let the Department of Justice take up the thread of the story.

When Means was in Easley's employ, a Bureau of Investigation agent says, he introduced to him a man as the O. G. P. U. chief.

This man agreed to turn over to Easley some very valuable documents which would directly show Soviet gold was behind many fires, robberies and hold-ups here.

For this information, the Department of Justice operative said, Easley paid a sum of money in advance.

When the documents were not received by Easley, the investigators declared, he asked Means, "Why?"

"Murdered by Soviet."

Means' explanation was alleged to be that the Soviet secret police head had been murdered—that the body found at Point Lookout was his—that he had been murdered by other Soviet operatives because they had learned of his plans to turn the documents over to Easley.

Easley accepted this explanation, it was said. He publicly announced that the murdered man at Point Lookout was a Russian spy leader.

Then some months later he saw the newspaper picture, and, according to the Department of Justice, he identified Whitaker as the man Means had introduced to him as the Russian operative and who, Means had told him, lay murdered at Point Lookout.

CUMMINGS PROBES MELLON'S U. S. TAX

Acts Upon Allegations by McFadden of Evasion of $6,700,000.

(Associated Press.)

The income tax returns of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury and Ambassador to Great Britain, are under the scrutiny of the Justice Department as an aftermath of charges by Representative McFadden (Republican), Pennsylvania.

Attorney General Cummings said yesterday there would be a thorough investigation of the allegations made on the floor of the House by McFadden that while in the Hoover Cabinet Mellon was guilty of "a specific tax evasion" of approximately $6,700,000.

Cummings told newspapermen that in addition to the McFadden charges, a number of letters had been received asking the inquiry, "most of them voluntary contributions by people who believed they had some interest in the case."

"It is fair to say that the policy of the department is to investigate all cases where the complaint indicates that there is some substance to the allegations," Cummings said. "This is a serious charge and has to be treated seriously and I hope fairly."

The usual procedure is for the Bureau of Investigation of the department to conduct preliminary inquiries into complaints, but the Attorney General indicated that he would handle the Mellon case through a special investigation, asserting he had not decided yet on the manner.

Senator Byrd Goes On Subcommittees

(Associated Press.)

Senator Byrd, of Virginia, was named yesterday to two important subcommittees of the Senate Finance Committee.

Because of his work in Virginia on segregation of State and local taxes, he was appointed by Chairman Harrison to the committe on simplification of Federal and State taxes.

He also was appointed to the subcommittee headed by Senator Barkley (Democrat), Kentucky, investigating Guy Helvering, of Kansas, nominated by President Roosevelt for Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Chicago Teachers Promised Payment

Chicago, May 11 (A.P.).—The city's unpaid school teachers, who stormed banks and offices of officialdom in demonstrations, were promised half of their $30,000,000 overdue salaries within three or four days by Mayor Edward J. Kelly today. Checks for part of it were put in the mails.

The 14,000 teachers immediately will receive payment of the September pay roll—$3,400,000. The remainder of half the money owed, about $13,000,000, will be obtained soon through the sale of additional city tax anticipation warrants to bankers, Mayor Kelly said. The sale was contingent upon the expected passage of a resolution by the board of education pledging itself not to issue 1932 warrants in excess of $22,000,000.

The pending pay day was hailed by leaders of teachers as a culmination of their drive to bring the teachers' plight before the public.

Former Petty Officer Dies of Strangulation

Leroy Giberson, 30, a former petty officer in the Coast Guard, was found dead from strangulation yesterday on the grounds of St. Elizabeth's Hospital. With a rope about the neck, the body was found lying along side a bench with the head and shoulders several inches from the ground.

It was reported that Giberson was sent to the hospital about two years ago for treatment for suicidal melancholia.

the way of the agreement, the view was expressed in unofficial quarters that the change in the German attitude might have had some connection with the diplomatic interchange in London yesterday between Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, and Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, special envoy of Hitler. Simon was reported to have expressed British disapproval of German action against the Jews and Rosenberg to have replied that Germany would tolerate no interference in her internal affairs.

The German attitude likewise has checked progress temporarily in the arms limitation conference at Geneva and President Roosevelt and State Department officials are using their good offices in talks with Schacht and the German Ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther, to persuade their country to give up its stand for increasing its armaments.

The new talk about the possibility of the President going to London for a quick visit to the conference at its opening found no confirmation at the White House, nor did it meet with a flat denial. The President recently joshed newspapermen for "falling for" the story that he would go.

The internal conversations yesterday involved Germany, China and Mexico. Representatives of the three conferred at the State Department with Secretary Hull and his aids.

Pittman Consulted.

Silver figured largely in the talks with the Chinese and Mexican finance ministers, T. V. Soong and Alberto J. Pani. Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, played a prominent part in both conferences. Mexico is the world's greatest producer of silver and China the heaviest user of the metal.

London, May 11 (A.P.).—The tariff truce which Norman H. Davis hoped to inaugurate today with the solemn agreement of the eight nations composing the world economic conference organizing committee tonight appeared indefinitely delayed.

Instead of the assent which had been confidently expected from Germany as early as yesterday noon, the Reich government advised Mr. Davis and the British government that it must study the armistice further before giving an answer.

Letters Received by Post Regarding Price of Milk

Rivals of The Post, Ignoring Milk Situation, Are Soliciting Advertisements From Local Dairy Houses.

To The Editor of The Post—Sir: All hail to you for the campaign you are waging to focus publicity on the milk profiteers. The Post has come in for lots of criticism because of attitude it has assumed on various questions, and your rivals in the field have done their best to minimize your worth, but the well-informed man and woman in Washington knows that The Post has always been a pioneer on public welfare movements like the present one against dairy gougers. There is a lot of loose talk about how the administration is driving the racketeers to cover and that Americans are now getting an honest dollar's worth, but all we here in Washington know that exorbitant rents are still with us and what we read in The Post about Washington paying more for its milk and cream than any other large city in the United States! How about it, Mr. Attorney General?

And the Hitlerites' pet peeve, I notice, are cooperating with you wonderfully by ignoring your campaign completely, but sending out their advertising men to collect big advertisements they are now running in their columns paid for by the local dairy houses! And still there are a lot of ignorant people in this world that think Hitler ought to be taken out and shot!

Milk Producer Offers Experiences to Show Life on Farm is Not Endless Joy and Huge Profits.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I certainly wish you would send your reporter that is writing so much about the high cost of milk out and let me show him just what producing milk and sending it to Washington means to a dairy farmer.

It means getting up at 4:30 every morning in cold rain, ice and snow in winter and in summer long days of plowing and sweating, making feed for the next winter. It means a dairy inspector from the District Health Department every month and more than likely that call means some little improvement that he suggests means additional expense—I recently had to pay $66 for a new sterilizer—cans to ship the milk in, hauling the milk into the District is all at a cost to us dairy farmers.

Your reporter wrote yesterday (Wednesday) how well paid we are. I should think he would first find out what it actually costs the dairy farmers in the different cities to produce the milk before comparing prices. A lot of farmers are paying now for feed they fed last winter. Ask your reporter to find out how many of us really clear a $100 a month, then add our labor and what labor to make such a little.

Its easy to talk when one is not actually familiar with the business—for five years I've gotten up at 3 o'clock each morning to give the men their breakfasts to get the milking done in time for the truck. I have hauled 300 pounds of ice at a cost of $1.00 a block four times a week for the ice box to cool the milk. I have hemmed thousands of towels in those five years to wash the cows' udders off so they could be clean—and meet health department requirements and after doing all this I have'nt bought myself as much as a pair of shoes out of the milk check. I couldn't afford it. I earned that other ways.

I also challenge you to print this letter in the paper and I invite anyone who truly wants the facts about milk producing to come out to see some of the producers. You can't sit at a desk and milk a cow.

Butter of Certain Brand Has Gone Up Four Cents a Pound Recently, Writer Declares.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I listened to your broadcast about the milk prices and am very much interested. I know that I am paying now 4 cents per pound more for butter than I did a short time ago for the same brand.

Elimination of Some of the Rigid Milk Requirements as Unnecessary and Too Expensive Urged by Writer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have been very much interested in your investigation of the milk situation in Washington. I believe that such investigation will be productive of beneficial results both to the producer and consumer. While I am not a farmer, I know something of the conditions under which milk is supplied to the Washington market, and would suggest that in your investigation you look carefully into all of the factors involved.

In the letter of Mr. A. M. Janney, appearing on page 2 of The Post for May 10, he calls attention to the rigorous sanitary requirements for the farmer supplying the Washington market. I believe that Mr. Janney has touched on one of the important factors in this situation.

The requirements for the production of milk to be delivered to the Washington market are very strict and are made in Washington. Many of these requirements are undoubtedly valuable and have improved the quality of milk. There are, however, some requirements which, while placing a heavy burden on the farmer, are productive of little improvement in the quality of milk.

I cite as an example the requirement for individual hemmed towels for each cow. I know of an instance in which individual towels were provided, but because they were not hemmed the farmer's score was reduced. Undoubtedly a good technical reason can be given for this requirement, but the multiplication of requirements of this character necessarily increases the cost of production.

Another item of expense to the farmer is the constantly changing requirements for equipment. Barns have been built within the past few years complying with all of the requirements of the authorities. Such barns, after having been built at heavy expense, are then criticized by the same authorities within a few months or weeks after their construction, owing to changes in specifications.

The result of these numerous requirements is that many individual farmers have been driven out of business and those remaining are operating under the handicap of a high overhead.

It is perfectly consistent that milk should be supplied for 8 cents near Washington by farmers who are not subject to the requirements of the Washington market, while at the same time 13 cents a quart is charged in Washington for milk supplied by farmers subject to the rigid Washington regulations.

I believe that what is needed is a stabilization of the requirements so that a producer may feel certain that he will not be expected to replace his expensive equipment within a short time after having purchased it.

May I suggest that a drastic lowering of the price of milk now would probably serve to drive out the few remaining individual farmers and to leave the field entirely to the milk trust?

One Cent More for Farmer and Two Cents Less for Dealer in Milk, Urged.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I wish to express my thanks for your efforts in reducing milk prices. I for one would enjoy seeing the farmer receive 1 cent more on a quart for his milk, and the dealer reduce his milk at least 2 cents a quart. More power to you. Let bread come next.

Spare the Poor Milkman From Any Cut in Prices, Is Urged by Wife of One Peddler.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have been an interested reader of the articles on the milk and cream situation and as my living and my family's also depend on the outcome of such investigation, before you proceed any further I would like very much to give you a few facts which I am sure you must be overlooking. Who will suffer from the cut in milk and cream? Do you suppose the big corporations or big men higher up will? No, emphatically. It will mean the poor milkman who has to peddle it each day in all kinds of weather. He alone will be cut, for he sells his milk on commission and is responsible for every cent and every loaf of milk on his truck.

I would like to see milk come down surely as I would lots of other things in these trying times, but please be careful who will be the one to feel it. I think it is a very important fact which has been overlooked by the writer of the articles in The Post. If in the reduction the poor milkman can be protected it will be of some good, but if the cut must come out of his hard-earned pay, I think the very thing you are trying to accomplish, that is (cutting the profits of the dairies) will be in vain. I hope I have stated this clearly.

fied milk prevailing in the following cities:

Washington	$.30
Boston	.25
New Orleans	.20
New York	.22
Chicago	.18
Philadelphia	.20 and .28
Pittsburgh	.20

The average price paid by the consumer in all large cities of the country for a quart of certified milk is 20.25 cents, which is 9.75 cents less than the price charged to the Washington consumer.

The retail price of cultured buttermilk in Washington also exceeds every other large city. Chicago has two prices: 9 cents a quart and 18 cents a quart. The price per quart in the District for cultured buttermilk is 13 cents a quart and 15 cents a quart.

Following are the prevailing prices for this commodity in the large cities:

Washington	$.13 and 15
Chicago	.09 and .18
Boston	.08
New Orleans	.08
Philadelphia	.09
Pittsburgh	.07

There are no buttermilk prices quoted for New York or Cleveland in the Department of Agriculture report.

The average price paid in large cities for cultured buttermilk is 9.23 cents, which is 3.77 cents per quart less than the minimum price quoted for the District of Columbia.

Butter, one of the principal products of the dairy industry and an indispensable item in every household budget, costs the Washington consumer more than the average American family.

Statistics of the Department of Labor show that during 1932 the Washington consumer paid an average of 29.3 cents a pound for butter while the average retail price through the country was 27.4 cents a pound. The following are average prices paid for a pound of butter in leading American cities during the year 1932.

Washington	29.3 cents
Baltimore	30 "
Boston	28 "
Newark	29.4 "
New Orleans	38.1 "
New York	28.3 "
Buffalo	26.9 "
Philadelphia	29.6 "
Pittsburgh	28
Cleveland	27.3
Milwaukee	26

The prices last February generally were below the average for the year 1932. The average retail price received throughout the country was 24.8 cents a pound, while the average in Washington was 27.2 cents, or 2.4 cents a pound more than was paid in the average city.

The highest prices in February prevailed in Baltimore and Washington, where 27.2 cents a pound was the price paid by the consumer. What is significant as to the similarity in the prices in these two cities when they are compared with prices prevailing elsewhere, is that the National Dairy Products Corporation controls the bulk of the milk distribution in each city.

Washington	27.2
Baltimore	27.2
Boston	24.7
Newark, N. J.	26.9
New Orleans	26.2
New York	25.6
Buffalo	23.7
Chicago	25.1
Detroit	23.1
Philadelphia	26.9
Pittsburgh	24.7
Cleveland	24.4
Milwaukee	24.1

Another article of this series will appear tomorrow in The Post. This article will deal with another interesting phase of the local dairy products price situation.

PARAGUAY CLAIMS MILITARY VICTORY

Troops Declared to Have Routed Bolivian Forces and Killed 80.

Asuncion, Paraguay, May 11 (U.P.).—Paraguay today claimed the first military victory since the declaration of a state of war with Bolivia was issued yesterday.

Paraguayan troops routed the Bolivian forces at Fort Gondra in the Chaco territory, killing 80 of the enemy, according to official advices from the front. One Paraguayan officer and nine soldiers were wounded in the battle. Fort Gondra lies a few miles northwest of Fort Nanawa, field headquarters for Paraguayan troops. The Bolivian campero regiment was believed to have been annihilated in the fight. Many enemy positions were taken. A large quantity of enemy war material was seized.

La Paz, Bolivia, May 11 (U.P.).—Bolivia will not declare war against Paraguay, it was declared authoritatively tonight.

Geneva, May 11 (A.P.).—In a protest today to the League of Nations against Paraguay's declaration of war, Bolivia said that Paraguay had placed herself outside the league covenant and had incurred the sanctions provided for in article 16 of the covenant.

If the league council, which was convoked in a special session today to consider the declaration of war in the Gran Chaco dispute, would accept the Bolivian view, it would mean a recommendation to world powers to sever economic and financial relations with Paraguay.

The council would even be empowered to invite nations to send a punitive force against Paraguay.

June Week Plans At Naval Academy

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 11.—Plans for the festivities of commencement at the Naval Academy, commonly known as "June week," finally were completed today by presiding officials.

The period this year is a few days earlier than usual, extending from May 27 to June 1, graduation exercises being held on the latter. President Roosevelt has been invited to address the graduates, but it has not been determined whether he will be able to attend because of pressure of official business in Washington.

Featuring the opening day will be a lacrosse game between the West Point cadets and midshipmen, the contest to mark the resumption of relations in the sport after a hiatus of five years brought on by disagreement over eligibility rules. Another athletic event that day will be baseball between the Navy plebes and the high school team that wins the championship of the District of Columbia.

Filipino Paper Sees Trouble for Murphy

Manila, May 11 (A.P.).—Possibility that Frank Murphy, retiring mayor of Detroit and new Governor General of the Philippines, would have friction with Filipino legislative leaders was suggested today in an editorial in the Manila Tribune, Filipino-owned. Mr. Murphy yesterday took the oath at Detroit for his Manila post.

The Tribune says Murphy's appointment of Joseph E. Mills, former general manager of the Detroit Street Railways, to become economic adviser and director of the Government-controlled industries in the Islands, may be provocative of trouble. The enterprises now are decentralized under management of Filipinos.

To Draft Al Smith for Mayor Gains Momentum Among New Yorkers?

Meanwhile, the former governor took no move either to halt or to accelerate the clamor.

A close friend, however, explained that Democracy's 1928 Presidential candidate is only lukewarm to the idea of becoming mayor; that he is interested at present in his business ventures, and that the shaving of his present income of $100,000 a year to the $25,000-a-year mayoralty salary would be a point to be considered.

It also was stated he definitely will wait for a considerable time—until the situation shapes up more clearly—before making any statement; that he would be available as a candidate only under one of two sets of conditions, and that in either case he would enter the race only as a regular Tammany organization nominee.

22 IOWANS FACING TRIAL IN SALE RIOT

Group Accused of Hindering Justice as Military Rule Is Lifted.

Denison, Iowa, May 11 (A.P.).—Formal charges of conspiracy to hinder the process of law and contempt of court were filed today against 22 men allegedly involved in a farm foreclosure sale riot two weeks ago.

Lifting of martial law, in effect here since April 28, was the signal for the beginning of prosecution against the men arrested by Iowa National Guards.

County Attorney Andrew Bell filed the charges before Judge Homer A. Fuller, of Mount Ayr, after an aid to Maj. Gen. M. A. Tinley had read the proclamation officially ending the military rule in two counties.

Judge Fuller, who was appointed by Chief Justice J. W. Kindig of the Iowa Supreme Court to deal with the Crawford County riot cases, gave the defendants until Monday to plead. He fixed their bonds at $3,000 each on the conspiracy count and $1,000 for contempt of court.

Filing of similar charges at Lemars against other prisoners was delayed, although military rule was lifted at that point also.

The national farm strike called for Saturday will have the support of at least one State executive, it was indicated, when Gov. A. J. Schmedeman of Wisconsin ordered all milk markets closed at 12:01 a. m., Saturday.

Children Present Maryland Pageant

Thousands of Prince Georges County school children and residents attended the Maryland pageant, staged by the county's rural schools yesterday morning at the University of Maryland Coliseum. A field meet followed in the afternoon.

The pageant, which depicted the State from the time of Indian settlements to the World War period, opened with a colorful interpretation of the arrival of settlers for the new colony.

After a series of scenes of peacemaking with the Indians and the founding of St. Marys village, there came the rumblings of war. The Revolution comes and goes and "The Red, White and Blue" is born. This was followed by the further dramatization of Maryland history. The pageant was closed with the singing of "Home, Sweet Home."

TWO DEATHS LINKED TO ANOTHER KILLING

Ballistics Experts Learn Same Gun Used to End Three Lives.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—The murder of Edward A. Ridley, aged eccentric millionaire, and his secretary, Lee Weinstein, was directly linked tonight with the slaying two years ago of an old Ridley family retainer, Herman Moench, after police found that a bullet taken from Moench's body was identical in markings with those that killed Weinstein.

The bodies of Ridley and Weinstein were found yesterday in a dark cellar office on Allen street, on the lower East Side—the same room in which Moench met death.

Ridley was battered to death. Three of the seven bullets fired at Weinstein were matched by ballistics experts with the one that killed the old servant and were found identical in grooving and presumably fired from the same pistol.

Discovery today that Ridley left $200,000 to his secretary, added fresh problems for detectives already stumped by the bizarre double killing.

Now, in adddition to hunting a motive for the crime and attempting to track down the slayers, authorities must answer this question:

"Who died first, Ridley or his secretary, Lee Weinstein?"

Weinstein was one of the principal beneficiaries in the will of the eccentric New Jersey resident, who was reputed to be worth $2,000,000, but Ridley specified that his secretary should get the $200,000 only if Weinstein outlived Ridley himself.

In the event of the secretary's earlier death, the money was to be added to the residue of the estate, which is divided between grandnieces and grandnephews.

Cosmopolitans Conduct Mothers' Day Ceremony

Dr. Edwin H. Silver conducted a Mother's Day ceremony at yesterday's meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel. Dr. J. Divver.

H. R. Cayton, president of the Richmond club; Sam Rosenthal, vice president, and James Rennie urged the members to attend the annual meeting of the Capital District Federation of Cosmopolitan Clubs at Richmond next Friday and Saturday.

A family gathering, in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Smith, of 1515 Gales street northeast, was held last night with relatives attending from many points.

Mr. Smith is 74, while his wife is 68. They have 15 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. Arrangements for the event were made by their children, Mrs. Clinton Walker, of Berwyn Heights, Md., Mrs. C. E. Lauxman, of 1445 Maryland avenue northeast and Jack Smith, of the Gales street address.

Administration Gets Praise in Bonus Trek

Conduct of the administration in dealing with the bonus marchers in Washington was praised by Frederic William Wile, newspaper correspondent, at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Military Order of the World War in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday. He predicted there would be no repetition of the military ejection of the bonus marchers last summer.

Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, newly appointed chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, was among the guests. This is the first affair attended by Admiral King since his advancement to the post held by the late Admiral Moffett. Col. J. Miller Kenyon presided.

to the veterans within the year. He was greeted with scattered cheers from the floor as he outlined his proposal.

The effort was short-lived. Representative Woodrum made a point of order, and Representative McClintic (Democrat), Oklahoma, in the Speaker's chair, upheld the point. He said it constituted new legislation on an appropriation bill.

All other efforts to increase the total of the huge measure were crushed, including a motion to raise administration estimates for veterans' allowances by $150,000,000. This last proposal was beaten by 119 to 76.

Roll Call Demanded.

On completion of the measure, Representative Taber (Republican), New York, moved to send the bill back to committee with instructions to remove the authorization for President Roosevelt to modify or cancel transportation contracts. This was the subject of a minority opinion in the House Appropriations Committee.

A roll call vote was demanded and the Taber motion was beaten 253 to 116. Representative Woodrum then forced an adjournment until today.

Although provisions of vital consequence to Federal employes were included in the President's legislative rider, reading of the sections was dispensed with by the House, which approved them in mass. The House already had agreed, via the rule route, not to amend any of the proposals.

Several Thousand Threatened.

Besides giving department heads authority to place Federal workers on rotative furloughs and setting up a basis for involuntary retirement of Federal workers after 30 years, the bill threatens the jobs of several thousand employes from the District, Maryland, Virginia, Iowa and Vermont by setting up State apportionment as a standard for dismissals. These States already have more than their quota of employes.

The new Civil Service Commission, whose duty it will be to determine how rigidly this last provision will be observed, is to be sworn in today. It was learned from sources close to Postmaster General Farley that one of the first matters to be taken up by the commission will be the proposal to remove from Civil Service status between 4,000 and 6,000 persons said to have been "blanketed" into the Civil Service during the Hoover administration.

Bank Head Thefts Held Not 'Common'

(United Press.)

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings last night described as "exaggerated" statements made by former Comptroller of the Currency John Pole before a Senate committee that defalcation by bank presidents were 'common and handled in a routine way."

Cummings said there were approximately 100 cases of banking irregularities on file in the Justice Department on June 1, 1932. Many of these were not criminal offenses, he added.

The present policy of the Justice Department, the Attorney General said, is to prosecute banking irregularities regardless of the effect upon other banks in individual cities.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—The fuel system of Frank Hawks' new long-distance speed plane quit on him today as he was 3,000 feet above the towers of Manhattan, and his engine died.

Hawks glided downward across half the town and landed safely on the polo field on Governors Island in the bay. Repairing the gasoline line, he took off again and continued to Floyd Bennett Field, where he had been going for fuel tests from Teterboro, N. J.

Tests on the plane are being rushed in an effort to make a speed flight to South America before beginning of the rainy season.

Big Five at Geneva Fail on Arms Plan

Geneva, May 11 (A.P.).—Delegates of the "big five" nations to the world disarmament conference at a special session tonight again failed to reach an agreement on vital issues and decided to throw the entire question to the steering committee, which will decide the fate of the conference.

The "big five," comprised of delegates of Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and the United States, called the meeting in an attempt to get the conference back on the rails after a nearwreck through the continued refusal of Germany to cede from its position.

Count Rudolph Nadolny, German delegate, again had refused, during informal discussions, to abandon Germany's position that his country can not accept some of the proposals in the British disarmament plan. Those referring to conscript armies, rather than long-term groups, were particularly concerned.

SWANSON DETAILS NAVAL ECONOMIES

Shore Retrenchments Will Total $18,000,000 of $55,000,000 Cut Ordered.

(Associated Press.)

The Navy yesterday detailed shore retrenchments through which it hopes to save approximately $18,000,000 of the $55,000,000 reduction in its estimates ordered for the next fiscal year.

Secretary Swanson in outlining the "principles" to be followed with regard to the land naval stations said in effect that slashes and economies would be made wherever possible.

By way of concrete instances, the accompanying order said 14 naval radio stations would be closed; the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I., would be reduced to a bare maintenance status; the headquarters of the Eighth Naval District at New Orleans would be moved to Charleston, S. C., and those of the Ninth Naval District would be transferred from Great Lakes, Ill., to Chicago. These were only a few of the changes affecting virtually every shore base in the country.

The order said the status of Navy Yards at Portsmouth, Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston would depend on whether funds are made available for new construction which, under present plans, will be included in the public works program being drafted.

Instead of the $325,000,000 which the Navy expected from appropriations and a residue left over from last year, the department was informed that its budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, must not exceed $270,000,000.

The additional economies are expected from limitations on fleet operation and other retrenchments at sea; reduction in civilian personnel, furloughs and the possible retirement of officers.

Forces Mobilize to Curb Fort Hunt Bonus-Pleaders

Largest Virginia Constabulary Since Hunger Marchers in December Concentrated at Alexandria; No Untoward Happenings Reported.

The largest concentration of Virginia constabulary since the hunger marchers last December swept through the Old Dominion last night was barracked at Alexandria as a disturbed countryside adjacent to Fort Hunt, Va., regarded the spectacle of 600 bonus marchers left almost to themselves in the Army reservation.

Twenty-five white police roadsters had hurried to the Virginia town after a two-hour conference yesterday between T. McCall Frazier, State trooper head; State Adjt. Gen. Gardner Waller and Alexandria City, Fairfax and Arlington County officials at the George Mason Hotel in Alexandria.

After the conference, McCall and Gen. Waller spoke with Gov. Pollard at Richmond via telephone, and the orders for the trooper concentration ensued.

Others participating in the conference included Sheriffs Eppa Kirby and Howard Fields, of Fairfax and Arlington Counties; Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson Farr of Fairfax County and James Simmons, of the Commonwealth's attorney's office at Arlington; Mayor Edmund Ticer of Alexandria and Capt. John Arnold, of the Alexandria police.

The 25 troopers were drawn from a group of 50 in annual training at Virginia Beach. They augment the average quota of 4 men assigned to Arlington and Fairfax Counties.

The Infantry company stationed at Fort Hunt to prepare the camp for the bonus convention departed yesterday for Fort Meade, Md., and immediately the Fairfax communities nearby began to buzz with alarm. During the day straggling groups of the marchers wandered around the nearby county, but no untoward event occurred. Many of the bonus seekers are Negroes.

McCall said that the job of patrolling the Mount Vernon boulevard, which skirts one side of Fort Hunt and is the chief way of approach, would be left to Federal authorities.

"We will protect Virginia property," said McCall "if the men we are bringing here are not sufficient, we have more."

McCall said the detachments would be adequately equipped for any emergency, including riot guns and tear gas equipment. The State troopers number 145 with 102 automobiles and 80 motorcycles for transportation.

Prior to the conference today, Gov. Pollard declared in a letter to Representative Howard Smith, of the Eighth Congressional District, that while he declined to assume there will be lawless acts by members of the convention, he would be prepared to meet any such emergency.

Gov. Pollard's letter, in reply to a complaint by the legislative representative of the nearby Virginia communities that he had not been called into the conference at Alexandria, was rebuking in tone.

He said, in part:

"It comes with ill grace from a representative in Congress from the district in which Fort Hunt is situated to undertake through the press to attach blame to the Governor of Virginia because you did not have an opportunity to voice your vigorous protest before the decision of Federal authorities became final," the governor's letter said.

"If there is any blame to be attached it should be placed on you because you were in Washington where the decison was made, and you live in the vicinity of the site selected and had much better facilities than I had for being informed as to the purposes of the President.

"The President had presented to him a difficult problem. He has decided that problem and the governor of Virginia will cooperate with him regardless of your criticism."

The governor took occasion to express his recognition of unrest among the citizens in the community affected, and asserted that every "particle of power vested in me by law will be exercised to protect the public interest."

The governor said also that he had received letters from county and city residents in the vicinity of Fort Hunt, suggesting that National Guard protection might be needed, but no action was taken.

Senator Carter Glass today will call on President Roosevelt with regard to the Fort Hunt situation. It is expected he will ask replacement of the troops withdrawn yesterday so that fears of residents of the section may be allayed.

OUSTER OF LEVINE BY BONUS ARMY GROUP SET FOR TODAY

spotlight last night even as administration gears were reversing in their economy grind to open new vistas for disabled and unemployed veterans.

Divergent Advice Given.

Mike Thomas, veteran of the bonus excitement of last summer, and elected leader of the small insurgent group, was advising them to sit tight and let the police do their worst. Other leaders advocated capitulating and going to Fort Hunt, with the object there of forming a separate bloc.

During the day two movements had emanated from the administration of a distinctly favorable aspect for veterans' causes. The President through Director of the Budget Lewis Douglas began a survey of congressional feeling as to the question of the payment of the bonus and the President offered 25,000 honorably discharged veterans places with the reforestation army as an avenue of escape from their economic woes.

The Budget Director's activity seemed heartening news to the bonus legions, but the first suggestions of the reforetsation army jobs met with the ghost of a snicker. At first glance prospects of hard labor in the forests at $1 a day with room and board under canvas does not seem to appeal.

Inflation Clause Studied.

Among those who conferred with Douglas were Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means Committee; Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, House Democratic leader, and other chieftains of the majority party in Congress.

Douglas was informed that a petition requiring 145 names to force a vote on the bonus had already received 29 signatures with indications of quick increases in this number. The petition is sponsored by Representative Lundeen (Farmer-Labor), of Minnesota.

The inflation section of the farm relief bill was also being scanned for the possible inclusion of power for the President to authorize payment of the bonus through a $3,000,000,000 currency issue. The upshot of conferences on this subject, however, provided a dim outlook for the bonus-seekers along this line.

600 Now at Fort Hunt.

Leading the New York contingent was George Alman, Pacific Coast lumberman, who last year was an outstanding leader of the bonus army. Alman said he expected to return to New York shortly to bring on more veterans. The New York arrivals brought the Fort Hunt garrison up to approximately 600.

Late last night another radio broadcast over a national hookup was arranged by the Veterans National Liaison committee—which the insurgent group claims is Communist-inspired, but which persuaded the administration to provide Fort Hunt for the convention.

Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, and Representative William Connery, of Massachusetts, both Democrats and both staunch veterans' friends in Congress, participated in the broadcast with George Brady, chairman of the veterans committee.

The legislators outlined the status of veterans legislation on Capitol Hill during their addresses and Brady discussed the convention of the veterans which begins tomorrow, and which will have as its agenda consideration of the bonus payment, restoration of disability benefits eliminated in the administration economy wave and unemployment relief in general.

First Lady Gives Vacation Views

The right use of leisure and the advantages of getting away from scheduled lives during vacation and recreation periods formed the discussion at the press conference held by Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House yesterday morning. Mrs. Roosevelt has just returned from a vacation motor trip during which she stopped to see friends at various places without any fixed routine.

The vacation plans of the two school boy sons of President and Mrs. Roosevelt will follow the idea of getting away from a scheduled life this summer. John Roosevelt has a "job" for five weeks in a boys' camp in New Hampshire when his duties will be riding the friskiest ponies in the morning, seeing that the boys are on time and taking part in their games as a leader.

Franklin Roosevelt, jr., and three school mates will sail for France early in July with $800 each to cover all their expenses for a summer attending lectures at the Sorbonne and motor trips through Spain in a car owned by one of the boys.

PROBE OF CANCER HOSPITAL ORDERED

Dr. Fowler to Investigate Sanitarium Following Mrs. Britton's Death.

Investigation of the Washington Cancer Sanitarium was ordered yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer. Fowler said Health Department inspectors had investigated several complaints regarding the sanitarium, but that they had failed to uncover anything which would warrant revocation of its license. The sanitarium was licensed in November, 1913.

Assistant District Attorney William Gallagher yesterday revealed that his office had been conducting an investigation ever since the death of Mrs. Cora Britton, which resulted in the arrest of two doctors connected with the sanitarium.

The two doctors, Dr. H. R. Street, who conducts the sanitarium at 1414 Girard street northeast, and Dr. Sherwood Ferris, of Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday surrendered to Montgomery County police at Rockville, Md., and posted bond of $1,500 each for their appearance at a preliminary hearing on charges of manslaughter in county police court at Rockville May 24. Attorney Leonard Lietman, of Baltimore, for the defense, said they would not waive the preliminary hearing. The bonds were posted with Frank I. Davis, police court clerk.

Doctors Surrender.

The manslaughter warrants were sworn out by Detective Theodore Vollten of the identification bureau of the Montgomery County police, who attended an inquest in Baltimore Tuesday night at which a coroner's jury held the doctors criminally responsible for the death of Mrs. Britton, wife of a prominent Mays Landing, N. J., physician.

The accused doctors appeared at the courthouse shortly before 11 a. m. yesterday and surrendered to Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley. After a conference in the chief's private office, Chief Moxley took the men to State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, where necessary preliminaries were arranged.

Dr. Street told newspapermen at the police headquarters that the treatment given Mrs. Britton was identical with that given hundreds of other cancer sufferers.

Defends Treatment.

He said: "The treatment that was given Mrs. Britton was prepared by me and was identical with treatments which had been used in hundreds of cases for the treatment and cure of cancer, both by me personally and by other registered physicians through me.

"The cause of her death was without question due to cancer complications, which made any treatment ineffective. Her death was not hastened by any treatment. She would have died with or without treatment."

He said that he could not claim credit for the origination of the treatment but that it had been used by a Western physician and had been given to him by a Baltimore woman, who had been permanently cured by the Western physician.

United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday received a letter from State's Attorney Herbert R. O'Conor, of Baltimore, asking that the sanitarium be closed "in the interest of humanity."

Randle Highlands Bus Scheduled to Be Altered

A new schedule for the Randle Highlands-Eastern High School bus line, providing a 12-minute headway, was approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission. The buses will be timed so as to coordinate with the six-minute Capital Traction street car service and Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

The commission also directed the Washington Railway & Electric Co. to repair its tracks at Eleventh and East Capitol streets and at Eleventh street and North Carolina avenue southeast.

Leonard A. Snead Files Petition in Bankruptcy

Leonard A. Snead, who gave his business as coal dealer, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the District Supreme Court. He listed debts of $421,232.98 and assets of $140.

At the same time, Maud H. Snead, who said she was a clerk, filed a similar petition, listing debts of $65,185.29 and assets of $550. Both petitions were filed by Attorney Robert C. Handwerk.

42 YEARS SENTENCE OF THREE KIDNAPERS

"Lindbergh Law" Invoked to Punish 6 of Midwest Bandit Gang.

Peoria, Ill., May 11 (A.P.).—The so-called "Lindbergh law" was invoked today to bring sentences to six reputed members of an Illinois-Iowa kidnap gang convicted of complicity in the abductions of Adhemar Huughe, East Moline, and Fred Defilippi, Spring Valley.

It took a Federal jury only five hours to convict them.

Three of those convicted—Mike Talarico, Davenport, Iowa; Frank Delbono and Joe Varsalona, both of Chicago—were given the maximum sentences, 42 years each in the Federal penitentiary and $5,000 fines, by Judge Louis Fitz Henry.

Wesley E. Pritchett, Chicago, was sentenced to serve 22 years and fined $5,000; Victor Ciesielski, alias Henie Lee, Davenport, and Carlo Delbono, brother of Frank, Chicago, each was sentenced to serve two years.

Huughe and Defilippi were abducted in separate kidnapings last winter and freed after ransom payments totaling about $20,000 in cash and jewelry. Government witnesses identified the defendants as participants. The defense attempted to establish alibis, and Varsalona insisted that he was kidnaped along with Defilippi, held prisoner three days, and used as a go-between.

Judge Fitz Henry in pronouncing sentence said "a crime of this kind is second only to murder." The lighter sentences for Carlo Delbono and Ciesielski were given, he said, because the two were "unfortunate" in becoming involved with the leaders.

Two Drivers Held When Man Is Hurt

The drivers of a truck and an automobile were held by Hyattsville police last night on a charge of reckless driving as a result of an accident in Riverdale, Md., in which Fred Angstead, 51, 3714 Thirty-first street northeast, was seriously injured.

Angstead, witnesses said, was attempting to cross the Baltimore boulevard at Madison avenue when an unidentified car circled him making a left-hand turn. Another car, coming from Washington and operated by George J. Zorn, 51, 622 Madison street northwest, skidded to avoid an accident and struck Angstead.

The impact, it was declared, hurled the man into the front on an oncoming truck, operated by Fred C. Lefevre, 32, of West Grove, Pa. Angstead was rushed to Providence Hospital, where he was said to have a compound fracture of both legs and head injuries.

NEW TAX MEASURE AIMS TO MAKE JOBS

laxation of the antitrust laws, House and Senate leaders saw the way cleared yesterday for decisive action next week on the sweeping recovery bill.

Technical advisers, who have been wrangling for weeks over industrial license formulas and split infinitives, were swept aside. The job of getting the bill into shape and clearing the decks for Congressional action was taken over by experienced legislators. They were aided and abetted by Budget Director Douglas.

On the Senate side, members of the Finance Committee discussed details of a projected "reemployment tax." Chairman Harrison indicated, however, he would be unable to make a personal decision concerning new taxes until he knows pretty definitely what President Roosevelt has in mind.

The industrial control section of the committee draft follows closely the general lines of the White House agreement. The basic principle is that each industry shall undertake effective self-regulation on a national scale, through cooperative agreements scrutinized by the Federal authority.

When these undertakings are violated by cutthroat units of the industry, penalties may be applied in the form of special manufacturers' sales taxes. These additional Federal levies would eliminate all the advantages of price trimming or other practices calculated to undercut established standards of wages and working conditions.

Insofar as these arrangements require, the antitrust laws will be repealed. But in all other directions the authority to restrain unwholesome monopoly still will rest with the Federal Government.

MEANS EXPECTED TODAY TO SAY IF BABY'S PICTURE WAS SNAPPED

Evalyn Walsh McLean were in Aiken, S. C., he saw the Lindbergh child in the rear seat of an automobile driven by Henderson, with whom he negotiated for several weeks for the return of the child.

At the close of the trial, officials of the Department of Justice termed Means' long, involved story, which should take today to complete, a final attempt for publicity.

"He knows that he is in for a long, long time," one investigator said, "and he is making one last splurge at publicity."

The kidnaping case which baffled all the greatest of the Nation's manhunters was easy for Means, his testimony would indicate.

He answered rapid-fire questions from his attorney, J. William Tomlinson, in regard to the case.

"Do you know who kidnaped the Lindbergh baby?"

"Yes."

"Do you know how the baby was killed?"

"Yes."

"Do you know who got the $50,000 which Col. Lindbergh paid the kidnapers through Dr. Condon?"

"Yes."

"Do you know where the $104,000 paid by Mrs. McLean is?"

On Stand All Today.

Means' detailed recounting of his contacts with the kidnapers while he was negotiating with Mrs. McLean stopped the progress of the trial. His attorney said he would probably be on the stand all day today before he finishes.

It is thought that if Norman T. Whitaker, with whom Means is alleged to have conspired to defraud Mrs. McLean of $35,000, takes the stand, it will be tomorrow at the earliest.

With prayers, final argument and the court's instructions of the jury yet to come it may be late tomorrow or next week before the jury will have the case.

Means charged during the course of his testimony that a file containing all his papers was taken from his home in Chevy Chase by Department of Justice agents, who searched every nook and cranny of the house.

This was brought out in his story when he told of the loss of a letter. "That's a charge in open court for the grand jury to act upon" he shouted at Leo A. Rover, United States attorney.

Mr. Rover declared that a search had been made of his home, but that not a single paper or article had been confiscated.

In the opening of his story Means declared that the object of the kidnapers was to abduct Col. Lindbergh himself and that they took the baby, hoping that his father would search alone for it and so fall into their hands.

Means' story also referred to investigations he made, he said, of such noted figures as Andrew Mellon, Senator George W. Norris and Smith Reynolds, who later was killed at his North Carolina home.

He told of meeting Henderson, who he said was head of the Third Internationale in this country, by prearrangement in Aiken.

There he saw a child whom Henderson told him was the Lindbergh baby. He described the child as wearing a knitted cap, a buff coat, white stockings. It had blue eyes and was about 17 months old, he said.

With Mrs. McLean at her Aiken cottage, Means said, he and Whitaker made all the arrangements for the baby's being brought there and the ransom turned over. His testimony for the day was ended at this point.

Two unsuccessful trys by the kidnapers to return the baby here were described by Means.

They took the boy to Parview, Mrs. McLean's estate near Bethesda, Md., he said, thinking she would be there, but when they arrived they found only a caretaker.

Then, he asserted, they went to the house of Col. Robert Guggenheim, in Georgetown. "Col. Guggenheim turned the boy down," he said the kidnapers told him.

Col. Guggenheim, when he was on the stand earlier in the week, told of a mysterious woman who appeared on the porch of his home, but ran to a waiting car and sped away before he could answer the knock.

Said Maid Gave Information.

These attempts here to effect the return of the child were made on March 8, Means declared.

Means told the jury that Henderson told him that Violet Sharp, Dwight Morrow's maid, kept him informed on what went on in the Lindbergh home.

During the conference with Mrs. McLean the night before Admiral Land went to Hopewell, N. J., to get something to identify the child by, she asked him why he was sent to the penitentiary in 1925, he testified.

"I said to her, 'Don't you know? For keeping my mouth shut.'

"William J. Burns sent me to see Mr. Elmer Dover, then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and I was given permission to investigate Andrew Mellon for the purpose of having President Hoover remove him from the Cabinet.

Whisky Shipment Charged.

"Mellon had shipped over a million dollars worth of whisky and when he found that it couldn't be sold had it shipped back to this country and put it in Government warehouses. From there it was stolen by the use of false permits.

"Senator Jim Watson saw President Harding about it and I went to see Senator Watson. Instead of Andrew Mellon who went out, it was Elmer Dover.

"President Harding said he was going to keep the old man there because he was the only one who could argue against a bill for the bonus.

"Mr. Mellon started against me and I was sent to the pen. I was asked to keep my mouth shut.'"

Red Leaders Ridicule Testimony of Means

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—Officials of the Communist party denied a portion of a statement of Gaston B. Means, in his Washington trial, in which he referred to their party in naming as one of the Lindbergh baby kidnapers one "Wellington Henderson, head of the Communist Third Internationale in this country."

"There is no such person as Wellington Henderson in the Communist party," said one official in a statement given out for the party, and added:

"The Third Internationale, further, has no organization in the United States. Its representative is the Communist party of the U. S. A. This is a silly attempt to shift blame that not even enemies of the Communist party can believe."

VERDICT IN HALLOCK TRIAL DUE TONIGHT

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Challenging of the character of testimony of State Auditor R. B. Jordon by former State Senator Frank L. Ball, counsel for F. J. Hallock, former clerk to county school board, who went on trial in the circuit court yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, halted the trial at the opening of the afternoon session. Ball contended the conversation of Jordon with Hallock to the effect that Jordon said to Hallock, "Better to tell the truth," was improper.

Jordon, on being questioned by Ball, stated that he was only trying to find out why Hallock had done what the audit is alleged to show. Still supporting his objection, Ball raised the point that the Commonwealth could not by testimony of any witness vary the minutes of the county school board. At the hour of adjournment the matter was still before the court for a decision.

Despite the long delay of yesterday, indications are that the case will reach the jury before tonight.

The trial of Hallock is last of three county officers who became involved in the alleged shortages brought out by State auditors. Hall is charged with embezzlement of $5,862.50.

Practically the entire morning was spent in the selection of the jury. Judge Walter T. McCarthy excused 12 prospective jurors because they said they had a fixed opinion.

The jury as finally selected is composed of Arthur J. Porter, W. B. Kidwell, R. E. Schaub, William J. Harris, Thomas L. Hazel, Julian L. Nelson, C. L. Galbraith, F. Y. Denson, I. C. Buchanan, A. L. Alexander, William J. Ricciardi and Verne S. Croft.

Only two witness were called during the day by the Commonwealth. The first, Henry S. Clay, present clerk to the county school board, identified the book containing the minutes of the school board meetings.

Jordon's testimony dealt with the identification of warrants claimed to be signed by Hallock in payment of salary, and identifying certain records in the minutes of the school board showing many warrants having been drawn for payment of Hallock's salary and for teachers' salaries.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas is in charge of the prosecution while Hallock is being defended by former Senator Ball and H. Bruce Green.

Less than 50 persons were in attendance during the entire day.

Tax Income Down In Prince Georges

A sharp decline in the tax collections in Prince Georges County for the past year was disclosed yesterday by Thomas N. Magruder, county treasurer, in submitting his annual report to the county commissioners.

Adverse business conditions and the bank holiday have not only resulted in the decrease but also have caused a corresponding increase in the amount of property involved in the delinquent tax sale, it was shown.

Reports from the county treasury also show a decline of $31,266 in county revenue over the previous year. Under the general county levy for the year ended May 1, the amount totaled $847,095, while in 1932 a sum of $878,361 was collected. Only in the first quarter of the year was there an increase in county tax collections.

An increase of slightly more than that collected during the previous year was recorded.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY.

WHYS AND OTHER WHYS

WHY is it that so many complaints have been made against the manner in which the parking lot belonging to the Treasury, opposite Commerce Building on Fourteenth street, treats its patrons.

Rudeness on the part of men who deal directly with the patrons, most of whom are in Prohibition, Customs, Farm Administration and Commerce, has been reported to the chief clerk's office, Treasury. Specific cases have been outlined. No reply has been received.

Under the operating plan, the lot is let out by the Treasury which collects for itself all the $2-a-month parking rentals. The remainder, at 25 cents a throw, goes to those in charge. Since that is the only parking location convenient to the largest Government building, Federal employes there naturally are anxious to use it, yet they insist upon civil treatment, they say.

Getting down to cases is not necessary at this stage but the Federal Diary knows of patrons in Government service who insist they have not received proper treatment but have been accorded subcivil language. Here is a chance for Chief Clerk Frank A. Birgfeld, Treasury, to handle a situation as outlined by patrons of this Government property.

NO. 5 hole, 430 yards, par 4, Indian Spring, scene of The Federal Diary's First Annual Golf Tournament, May 25, is one of the finest par fours in Washington. A long drive has to be very straight, leaving a spoon or long iron shot to the green, that slopes with a large trap guarding the green to catch the slice, says George Diffenbaugh, pro.

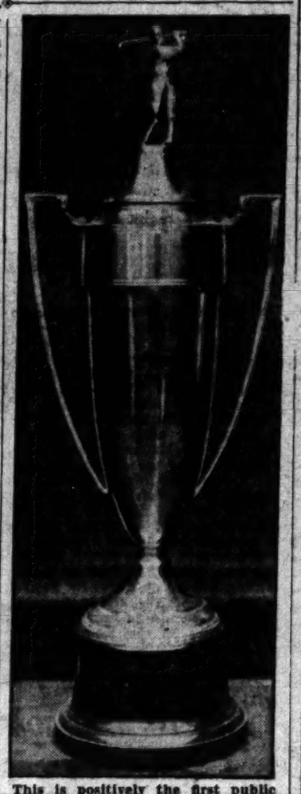
J. Leland Acuff, general chairman, adds that the green also is flanked by a trap to the left and slightly in front which should be carefully guarded against in approaching the green along the left side of the fairway.

Mr. Acuff said last night that the tournament promises to be a far greater success than at first expected. All who have entered will be accommodated, although 225 are on the list.

Starting time and foursomes are being arranged for those who have sent in their handicap scores to compete for the handsome trophy and other prizes.

Here is a bloc of names included originally, but which failed to be included in the official list of tournament entrants, all from G. P. O.:

M. T. Young, F. D. Patton, Al B. Schneider, H. Wilson, M. P. Brewington, C. E. Purdy, A. O. Burr, R. E. Kling, J. Understein, O. W. Hermann, E. W. Plaskett, Pat Coyle, B. E. Blair, H. A. Lake (*) R. H. Perry, C. E. Barnard, Charles Sowers, H. Dye, R. C. Taylor, B. H. Taylor and S. R. Hammer.



This is positively the first public appearance of the handsome trophy, capital prize in the Federal Diary First Annual Golf Tournament at Indian Spring, May 25. R. Harris & Co., filling the order for the cup, is inscribing it with everything except the winner's name. J. Leland Acuff, general chairman, has used such care in selecting the trophy, the Diary editor wishes he could compete, too.

COMMERCE'S lawn is beginning to look right pert after its baldness of long standing. Man-made mansions look bare without God's green grass. . . . Take the initials of William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, D. C., and just installed Federal Bar Association president, and you get the word, "WAR." We'll wager his aggressiveness as bar leader will show big net results after his first year of tenure. . . . Couple of renovizing tinners get started early—much too early—installing a gutter just above us. But what this world needs is MORE noise from tinsmiths, blacksmiths, silversmiths, millwrights and the other Smiths and Wrights. . . . Lunched with Clarence Weidemann, C. & G. S. En route cafeteriaward, met Lieut. Edwin J. Brown (*), after whom the gravity apparatus is named and who told Clarence there was a surprise waiting for him in the cafe. The surprise: the lieutenant, without funds, had left his check with the cashier, saying a friend would come along later and pay. Clarence, so filled with curiosity and an empty stomach, dashed over to learn of the surprise. He paid off.

Dairy Industry, Agriculture, says January 1, 1933, there were 342 cooperative bull associations active in the U. S., 60 less than a year before. Ah, but don't we still have as many bull sessions? . . . Forthcoming issue of John Hix's "Strange as It Seems" will betray the catch of two "champion" Marine Corps herring snatchers. . . . Easy Street is a fabled avenue, but Uneasy street has a greater population per square yard. Mrs. Amy F. Hammond and Mrs. Bertha V. And during this crusade for live-and-let-live milk prices, let's hope they put rubber shoes on that horse that clop-clops back and forth on hard pavement at 2 a. m. At least horse sense would show appreciation. But horseshoe makers will say "neigh." . . . We know of a man in Government service who lost a hand in the war. Been paid $60 a month compensation. Now it's up to him to prove he lost hand in the war. And is he hot? F. D. R.'s easing of the disabled slash should prevent a summer of discontent.

Judge Olcott, who had been engaged in the practice of law in New York City for a great many years, began his public career in New York during the 90's. During that time he served as Republican leader on the board of alderman of that city and as chairman of city and State affairs committee of the Republican Club.

He was later appointed district attorney of New York on the recommendation of Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root and others. Subsequently he was appointed to judge of the City of New York to succeed Mayor Van Wyck. Later he resigned that position to enter private practice. He was educated at the grammar schools in New York and was graduated from the College of the City of New York in 1881.

Mr. Paff was a son of the late Frederick Paff, and for many years was engaged in the shoe manufacturing business in Alexandria, being president of the company bearing his name. He served several terms as a member of the common council from the third ward, and later became president of that body. He was elected Mayor of Alexandria in 1905.

He is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Thomas W. McKnew, of Chevy Chase, Md.; Mrs. Henry J. Hough, of Washington, and Mrs. Edward C. Gibbs, of Mount Vernon. He is also survived by a brother, George A. Paff, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Dieterich, of Washington, and Mrs. John M. Reed, of Wellington Villa, Fairfax County.

Mr. Paff was a past president of the George Washington Birthday Association, a member of the Second Presbyterian Church, and of Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons, Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar, and Acca Temple, Mystic Shrine.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p. m. today at the Wheatley Funeral Home, by the Rev. Dr. William B. McIlwaine, jr., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church.

Dear Mr. Brundage:

About a year ago we equipped our apartment, The Monmouth, 1819 G Street, N.W., with seventy-four (74) of your Electrolux Gas Refrigerators, on a Master Gas Meter. At that time we included gas for cooking and refrigeration free in the monthly rental.

MRS. WHITNEY WINS FIVE SHOW RIBBONS

Plummer Gelding Clearanfast Takes Memorial Trophy at Capital Exhibit.

The George B. Plummer gelding, Clearanfast, took the Peter Voorhees DeGraw Memorial Trophy for local hunters as Mrs. John Hay Whitney's entries won two blue and three red ribbons in four classes yesterday during the second day's session of the National Capital Horse Show.

In addition to winning the trophy and blue ribbons in the local hunter class, the Plummer Stables took a third place in the same list with Royal Pleasure. Second prize went to Miss Evelyn Walker's B'Wana Muki, while Forlorn, Maj. George S. Patton's gelding, was fourth.

Opening strongly, Whitney entries took first and second places in the first class of the day for lightweight qualified or green hunters. The other blue was won in the thoroughbred hunter class, with seconds falling to the stable in the competitions for green hunters under 4 years and the 5 and 6-year-olds suitable to become hunters.

An early morning rain made the Bradley Farms grounds even more difficult than they had been Wednesday, the opening day of the show. Horses slipped and slid on the heavy turf, and the approaches to three jumps on the outside course had to be filled with sand to give the entries a decent foothold.

The winners by classes were: Lightweight qualified or green hunters—First, Two Leggins, Mrs. Whitney; second, The Grey Knight, Mrs. Whitney; third, Beo, T. H. Somerville; fourth, Catter Play, L. C. Leith. Best saddle horse—First, Gulf Breeze, Miss Marjorie Lee McLeod; second, Sonny Boy, Hubbert R. Quinter; third, Jack Lightning, Vernon G. Owen.

Green hunters, 4 years and under—First, Sir Grey Stone, George R. Slater; second, Loro, Mrs. Whitney; third, Sargent, T. H. Somerville; fourth, Firenze Yessiree, Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim. Touch and out—First, Quick Silver, Miss Julia B. Whiting; second, Impulse, Miss Margaret Cotter; third, Jumping Fool, Ernest M. Woolf, and fourth, Mermaid, John A. McDonald.

Road Hacks: First, Happy Time, W. F. Burrows; second, Sciota, Miss Mary Ellen Corby; third, Sonny Boy, Mr. Quinter; fourth, Grey Falcon, Miss Patricia Henry. Five and six-year-olds, suitable to become hunters: first, Clearanfast, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Plummer; second, Kinprillis, Mrs. Whitney; third, Shere Khan, Mrs. Cary Jackson; fourth, Sciota, Miss Corby.

Thoroughbred Hunters: First, The Grey Knight, Mrs. Whitney; second, Beo, T. H. Somerville; third, Clearanfast, Mr. and Mrs. Plummer; fourth, Capt. Lawton, Mrs. Ellsworth Augustus. Park Saddle Horse: first, Gulf Breeze, Miss McLeod; second, Jack Lightning, Mr. Owen; third, Harriet Lee, Mr. Owen, and fourth, Happy Time, W. F. Burrows.

DeGraw trophy for local hunters: First, Clearanfast, Mr. and Mrs. Plummer; second, B'Wana Muki, Miss Walker; third, Royal Pleasure, Mr. and Mrs. Plummer; fourth, Forlorn, Maj. G. S. Patton, jr. Handicap Jump: First, Kippema, T. H. Somerville; second, Master Eclipse, Clifton Farms; third, B'Wana Muki, Miss Walker; fourth, Wilderkit, T. H. Somerville.

Mount Vernon Banquet Hall Saved From Ceiling Collapse

Attendants' Sharp Eyes at Shrine Detect Fissure; Washington Himself May Have Made Error in Structural Detail Causing Flaw.

George Washington's banquet hall at Mount Vernon came within an ace of being a litter of plaster and of crushed priceless furniture under the weight of falling old beams; several months ago, The Post learned last night.

Sharp eyes of attendants at the Nation's shrine discerned a fissure in the ceiling above the room where L'Enfant discussed the plans for the Capitol and where countless historic figures reveled in the Virginia dainties provided by Washington's cooks and supped the fine wines of the time.

Engineers were called in and after careful tests, said the plaster was not only weakening, that the flat beam plan of construction designed by the first President himself was buckling.

So, at the expense of $5,000, sturdy Georgia pine beams reinforced with steel trusses now form the ceiling of the stately room. Architectural engineers are inclined to lay the near catastrophe to a flaw in the structural reasoning of Washington himself. They say an arch beam type of construction should have been used.

The banquet hall addition to the mansion was built during the days when Washington was fighting the British in the Revolutionary War. The room was added to the famous structure under the supervision of Lund Washington, a kinsman of the general.

The fortunate discovery and the repair means taken came on the eve of the annual meeting of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, a group of patriotic women who organized in 1858 to restore and retain for posterity the beautiful estate of the First President on the Potomac, and on which his remains are interred.

Thirty-two States are represented in the association which opened a ten-day stay at the riverside estate of Washington yesterday. Under supervision of this group 400,000 visitors annually pass through the historic gates of Mount Vernon.

To them goes the task of keeping the estate in repair and administering the many affairs thereby connected.

Routine matters were taken up at the opening session. Members of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association gathered at the mansion from all sections of the country and registering was still in progress late last night.

Three Are Indicted In Hendler Threats

Baltimore, May 11 (A.P.).—Indictments charging robbery with a deadly weapon and conspiracy to extort money from L. Manuel Hendler, ice cream manufacturer here, were returned by a Baltimore grand jury against three men today in the case of the kidnaping of Hendler's son, Albert.

The men, who have been held in the city jail for Federal authorities, probably will be tried here instead of in New York, where they also are under indictment.

Bail for each of the defendants was set at $25,000. Those indicted are: Hyman Goldfinger, alias Hyman Potter; Samuel Max Lipsitz and Harry Surasky.

Date of Execution Is Set for Slayer

Baltimore, May 11 (A.P.).—The execution of Euel Lee, Eastern Shore Negro, was set for June 2 by Gov. Ritchie when he signed the death warrant for the convicted slayer of Green K. Davis, near Taylorsville, Md., nearly two years ago.

Lee was found guilty early this year for the second time of killing Davis. The first conviction was reversed by the court of appeals on a jury technicality.

Gov. Ritchie said he had been informed Bernard Ades, an attorney for Lee, was planning to apply to the supreme court for a writ of certiorari. This request, the governor added, must be made before May 25.

APPROVAL EXPECTED FOR CIRCLE CHANGES

Commission to Act on Plan to Make Thomas Oval Aid to Traffic.

The District Commissioners today are expected to approve a plan for remodeling Thomas Circle so as to facilitate the movement of traffic, thus bringing to an end a 3-year-old dispute. The plan, as drafted by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, was approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission.

The project will get under way after the beginning of the new fiscal year, and probably will be financed out of revenue from gasoline taxes. It will cost approximately $5,000.

The center parkway will be diminished to an oval, and the street car tracks will be run closer in, paralleling the parkway. Two small islands on the east and west will divide lanes of vehicular traffic.

The plan already has been approved by the Capital Traction Co. and the District Highway Department, as well as the parks commission.

According to Fairfax County police, they were not notified of the accident until after the woman died and then by the hospital authorities. An investigation by the county police revealed that the car was driven by Thomas R. Gray, of Ballston.

Mrs. Sadie Giddings, 69, of Ballston, another passenger of the car, received a broken left arm and rib and Mrs. Minnie M. Garrett, 55, of Ballston, also received a broken left arm. They were taken to the Georgetown Hospital by a passing motorist. It was understood that the party was on the way to Woodstock, Va., to visit relatives when the accident occurred.

No action has been taken by the Fairfax County police.

AN EXPERIMENT BEGINS.

Final enactment of the farm relief bill awaits only President Roosevelt's signature. Since this measure went to Capitol Hill with the President's indorsement, there has never been any question as to its approval at the White House, and its enactment by Congress has been taken for granted. For several weeks the Department of Agriculture has been making preparations to apply this unique measure to various farm crops.

The importance of the farm relief bill was greatly magnified when Congress inserted provisions under which the President may expand credit, issue fiat currency and change the gold content of the dollar. But as the measure goes to the President's desk those powers are temporarily overshadowed by the far-reaching provisions directly affecting the farmer and his crops. No one knows to what extent the President intends to use his power over the dollar, but it may be assumed that the powers to raise agricultural prices and curtail production will be applied as soon as practicable.

This measure gives the President and his Secretary of Agriculture remarkable powers over the farm. Its central purpose is to use the taxing power of Congress to restore "parity" between agricultural and industrial prices. Taxes are to be levied upon the processing of basic agricultural commodities to reimburse the Government for funds which it is authorized to pay farmers, either in the form of rentals or benefits. Never before has the Government employed such an elaborate scheme for the advantage of a special group of citizens.

Under the theory that agriculture has been affected with a public interest, the Secretary of Agriculture may impose criminal penalties upon individuals who enter specified farm crops into interstate or foreign commerce without his permission. A licensing system under the Secretary's control will give him complete domination of agricultural marketing, if he finds the exercise of that power advisable. The disposition of farm crops is no longer a free business in which any individual or group of individuals may participate as they please.

The farm relief bill has been much criticized, but it did not meet with any determined opposition because of the serious economic conditions prevailing in agricultural districts. Now that this measure is about to become law the whole country joins in the hope that it may succeed. It is clearly an experiment, and is recognized as such by President Roosevelt. A people that is accustomed to private initiative and reasonably free play of economic forces can not put aside apprehension over an innovation of such a momentous character. But Congress has acted. The representatives of the people have determined that the experiment shall be made as a final attempt to rescue the farmer from a desperate economic situation. It is now time for cooperation from every source in the task of fitting this unprecedented measure to the practical needs of American farms.

LABOR FEARS RAIL PROGRAM.

Organized labor is making a vigorous protest against the administration's bill for relief of the railroads. In hearings before the Senate committee on interstate commerce spokesmen for railway employes denounced the measure. They fear it would result in further unemployment. If the Government goes forward with the railroad plan, the brotherhoods will demand substitute employment, pensions or dismissal wages.

The welfare of labor is a vital issue in consideration of the railroad measure. It is estimated that 800,000 railway men are out of employment now, and that from 50,000 to 300,000 would be deprived of their jobs under the new consolidation plans. Some provision ought to be made to ease the burden of this transition upon workingmen and their families.

No argument presented by the employes, however, can justify abandonment of the plan to reorganize the Nation's carriers into compact and efficient units. It is useless to argue that waste and inefficiency should be preserved so as to avoid the destruction of jobs. Such a plan would cut off all hope of economic progress. The railroads are now suffering because they have been operated with the handicaps of competition plus the restrictions that the Government applies because they are a public utility. One system or the other must prevail. For several years there has been general agreement that direct competition between public agencies of this character does not work to the public interest. Efforts have been directed toward consolidation of service under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

President Roosevelt's program follows this viewpoint. It would permit the carriers to serve the public as transportation units instead of separate entities struggling for business. No surrender to monopoly is involved because the whole program is carried on under the scrutinizing eye of Uncle Sam.

At present the railroads are headed toward bankruptcy. Continuation of this tendency would work to the disadvantage of labor as well as the railroads themselves. Retrenchment is absolutely essential. When corrective measures have been taken, traffic doubtless will flow more freely and more men will be needed to operate the railroads.

Congress may lend a sympathetic ear to the plea of railroad men for relief, but the reorganization of the transportation system can not be frustrated by the argument that it might temporarily reduce payrolls.

BACK TO GOLD.

Prospects for restoration of the gold standard appear to be somewhat better than they have been since the United States embarked upon its inflation policy. France, Italy, Germany and Switzerland are determined to cling to gold as long as they can, in the hope that the yellow metal will be restored as the world's medium of exchange at the World Economic Conference. Great Britain seems anxious to return to gold now that the dollar has been debased.

The attitude of the United States on this issue may be the controlling factor. No international monetary standard could be successfully maintained without the adherence of this country. The attitude of President Roosevelt toward the gold standard is, therefore, of the utmost importance.

The Roosevelt-MacDonald statement pointed out the necessity of reestablishing a monetary standard, but it also contained a hint of international inflation to raise commodity prices. Nothing specifically was said about the gold standard. But in his joint statement with Signor Jung, the Italian Minister of Finance, the President was more explicit. "We are in agreement," he said, "that a fixed measure of exchange values must be re-established in the world and we believe that this measure must be gold."

This is a severe blow to the silverites, who expected to induce the President to throw his influence behind a bimetallic standard. The Senate made a complete surrender to the silverites when it passed Senator Wheeler's resolution urging the American delegates to the World Economic Conference to "work unceasingly for an international agreement to remonetize silver on a basis of a definite fixed ratio of not to exceed 16 fine ounces of silver to 1 fine ounce of gold." But the President and not the Senate will instruct the American delegates to the conference. Apparently he has turned his back upon the Senate's silver heresy.

The Senate acted on the theory that a shortage of gold is one of the chief causes of the depression. This absurd idea has been disproved so many times that even the Senate should recognize its falsity. The world has more monetary gold in relation to the production of other commodities than it has ever had before. If the Senate accepts the theory that there is a shortage of gold because the debts of the world exceed all the gold in the world, then it will be unable to find any money that will meet its requirement, except printing press currency. The world has all the gold it needs as a basic money, and gold is being mined faster than ever before.

No other monetary standard is suitable to the needs of modern finance. The stability of money in the future depends upon the restoration of the gold standard. It is gratifying indeed to find that President Roosevelt intends to work back toward the gold standard.

THE PERIOD OF UNCERTAINTY.

No feature of the administration's policy has been more generally approved throughout the nation than its determination to secure completion of the legislative program at as early a date as possible. This action is particularly important, because such an unprecedented number of the measures to be passed carry optional authority to be exercised at the discretion of the executive.

Changes in conditions affecting business, trade and finance are impending, and there is manifest everywhere a most encouraging desire to reconcile business practices to whatever changes may be necessary.

One feature of the present situation which may not be so evident, but which undoubtedly has the effect of retarding the return of normal activity, is the tendency of every debtor to postpone payment, hoping that cheaper money will relieve him of a portion of his obligation. It is with the avowed intention of relieving this class of citizens that various bills are before Congress, and the President has frankly stated his intention of aiding the debtor to repay his creditors in dollars of the value he received when borrowing.

As soon as it is known that final terms of settlement have been reached regarding mortgage reductions, of new interest rates, and the point at which the dollar is to be stabilized, a flood of settlements will begin, and there will be loosed a circulation of capital that will be immeasurably greater than any distribution of government funds can hope to equal.

CURBING THE WHEAT CROP.

Representatives of the four great wheat-producing nations of the world—Canada, Australia, Argentina and the United States—are meeting in Geneva with a view to preparing the way for a limitation of the world's wheat crop. It is the purpose of these delegates to explore the possibilities of agreement and then to draw the wheat-producing countries of Europe into the conference. Results of these meetings will be laid before the World Economic Conference in the hope of consummating a wheat treaty.

Numerous efforts to limit wheat production have been made on previous occasions without success. The United States has not been able to participate in such agreements because it has lacked control over its own wheat crop. Within a few days the Government will have full authority to reduce the domestic crop, and can limit the exportation of wheat. Apparently the most formidable obstacle in the way of a world-wide wheat limitation agreement has been removed.

Numerous difficulties remain, however, and it seems doubtful whether they can all be eliminated before the economic conference begins. Wheat is a very common product. It can be grown in moderate climates throughout the world. Any increase in the price resulting from smaller crops in the chief producing countries would doubtless stimulate production in other nations not parties to the agreement. Another difficulty is the vital effect of weather upon the yield of wheat. Acreage can be limited, but no one can foresee what kind of crop nature will produce on that acreage in any one year. This fact tends to encourage overplanting to guard against a shortage.

It is not yet known whether the principal wheat-growing countries will be able to agree upon quotas by which crops would be limited. This may prove to be a stumbling block, as the Balkan states insist upon their right to supply a large part of the European market, where most of the world's export wheat is sold. Soviet Russia is also a factor that will have to be reckoned with sooner or later. At present agriculture in the Soviet is in a hopeless state of confusion, but its wheat-producing possibilities are enormous.

Regardless of these difficulties, the advantages at stake are important enough to justify an earnest attempt to secure a world wheat agreement. Attempts of this Government to maintain reasonable wheat prices without curtailing production recently cost the taxpayers $160,000,000. It is well known that American farmers can not sell wheat on the world market under present conditions without being driven into peasantry.

If the efforts now being made to solve this problem from an international viewpoint should fail, the United States will probably have to withdraw from the wheat exporting field and make a special effort to protect American growers from ruinous world prices.

Communists are angry because Diego Rivera's mural picture of Lenin has been ruled out of Rockefeller City. They ought to realize that pictures of Lenin give a setback to their propaganda.

The Gran Chaco struggle is now declared to be war, but the Far Eastern struggle is still described as mutual striving for self-defense.

Ramsay MacDonald intimates that as soon as he has sewed up a few more special tariff agreements he will agree to a truce.

Henry Ford gives notice that the country is now looking forward—perhaps a hint that his new car will have no reverse gear.

The public will not worry over economy in the Navy if adequate provision is made for new ships.

If the exceptions to the truce could be adopted in place of the truce the world would soon make economic agreements.

The price of common stocks and other necessities of life is rapidly rising.

BURNING BOOKS

From the Baltimore Sun.

Every few hundred years there is a movement somewhere to burn books. The underlings arouse themselves to the thought that intellectuals have been writing books which they can not understand, and there is a huge bonfire. The pretext has usually been the same as Herr Hitler's pretext, namely, that scholarship is unpatriotic and impious. Literature henceforth must not be above the comprehension of lictors, clerics, Boston magistrates or Nazi storm troopers. Everything written must subscribe to the tenets of the party in power.

This is what is happening in Germany today. "Un-German" books, which apparently means almost all books not definitely committed to the prevailing Nazi politics, which is a denial of all politics, must go. History, philosophy, mathematics, science, all must be "German"—whatever that is understood to mean. The German school must fall into line and, instead of training men equipped for independent thought, is assigned to the production of a man who is "wholly and inseparably bound in his inmost being to his people's history and destiny." By making his history revolting and his destiny increasingly obscure, the Nazi ringmaster may be counted on to make this process as difficult as possible.

Thus one more country is added to the list of those which deliberately elect to make education a definite branch of propaganda. In Russia every sort of event and discovery is made somehow to fit into the Soviet picture of the class war. Nothing, however incongruous, escapes. In Italy all knowledge must make its contribution to the greatness of Mussolini and the Fascist ideal. And now, as was inevitable, German education—and this is perhaps more a reversion than an innovation—must subordinate scholarship to a mass of ill-digested preconceptions about Nordics, "blond men" and "heroic steely romance." The fact that most of this is so much tosh need not be expected to move Herr Hitler and his allies. Reared and nourished upon tosh, it seems to them as veracious as the late Mr. Bryan's science appears to a not inconsiderable body of Americans.

It is a tragedy to see a nation with such a record for disinterested investigation as is Germany's succumbing to this atavistic revolt against sense and decency. But there will be other books, among them, one may expect, a sound work in six volumes by some Herr Doktor now anonymous on the subject, "Influences of the Blond Nordic Myth on the Revolt of the Illiterate."

The Rear Guard.

POST HASTE.

Army and Navy tactics apparently can not prevent the decimation of their ranks through attack from the rear.

We trust the bonus army does not think it scared the President into announcing a revision of veteran cuts and that it can do more.

If an American diagram can demonstrate to European nations how much more can be saved on armaments than war debts, it will be a real service.

Sr. Pani made a side trip to Sonora to get Gen. Calles' O. K. on the way from Mexico City, so he must be considered an official delegate.

Price-fixing is out and the processing taxes must wait, for they would appear to be a violation of the tariff truce.

In the circumstances Mother Nature finds it necessary to give the farmers another illustration of the fact that reduced production increases prices.

What is Italy trying to do, announcing that gold bond interest will be paid in gold, encarmine the countenance of the world?

Thirty per cent off our cash would make it a threescore-and-ten dollar, and by the same sign the pound would weigh in at $3.40, but try to sell the French a franc under 3 cents.

Comes to hand the facetious suggestion that following his composition to the Unknown Soldier, Secretary Woodin could probably do justice to the unknown dollar.

PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE TOILER.

He was dirty. That was plain.
On his hands were grease and grime;
Common toil had left its stain,
Not as deep or black as crime.
And I followed just behind,
Little guessing what I'd find,
Little dreaming I should hear
Shouts of welcome, loud and clear;
Little thinking I should see
'Round his porch white shrubbery
And a window box of flowers
Just as red and gay as ours.

He was weary. That I knew.
All the long day he had toiled
At the task he had to do,
Which had left him sadly soiled.
And I saw him homeward turn,
Little guessing what I'd learn,
For a grass plot green and trim
Seemed with joy to welcome him.
Lovely blossoming peonies swayed
Where his little children played,
And a garden bed was gay
With the colorings of May.

What are grease and dirt and oil
And the weariness man sees
Born of everlasting toil
But the purchase price of these?
Window panes with curtains white
And a happy home at night;
Shrubs to blossom in the spring,
Rooms where childish voices ring;
Dreams translated into peace
When the whirring turbines cease
And the things mankind loves best
When the nighttime brings us rest.

Frontier Men Who Can Lick Anybody Else Are Last to Welcome Law, Order.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN men say that a nation has decided to do certain things, they mean that a king or a president or a statesman has so decided. In practice, a nation is the man or the group that directs its affairs.

This being true, it would seem reasonable to hope that nations can be persuaded to do anything decent that men have been persuaded to do.

But the reverse is equally true, and it is folly to hope that nations will do anything contrary to the practice of men.

Thus any plan to end warfare is foredoomed to failure unless it adjusts itself to the peculiarities of human nature. It can not hope to succeed if it requires a change in the instinctive and age-old reactions of mankind.

These truths are self-evident. Why, then, are statesmen unable to find a plan that will end warfare?

If the way out of a difficulty is obvious, and men fail to find their way out, isn't it clearly apparent that they are blind because they will not see?

How can nations be controlled? Well, how are individual men controlled?

If you would compel a nation to do justice and keep the peace, observe the method by which an individual is compelled to do justice and keep the peace.

Man's natural inclination is to take what he desires—that is, to steal. His natural inclination is to destroy those who interfere with him or offend him.

How is this inclination overcome? By fear. Apparently by fear of public opinion, but actually by fear of the physical force that public opinion has at its command.

In short, the ordinary man does not steal or maim or kill because he knows that a force stronger than himself will restrain and punish him. He obeys the rules to save his skin. He doesn't crash the red light because he knows he can't get away with it.

If there were no policemen or courts or jails, would moral force or signed agreements prevent the strong from taking advantage of the weak? Would you deny yourself a coveted treasure if no power on earth could prevent your taking it? Don't be absurd.

It is superior force that makes men obey the rules. Nothing else can, as all experience has shown. And nothing but a superior force can make nations behave decently.

Statesmen can insure peace by establishing that force. But big nations still dread a police force more than they dread the risks of war.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Direct to the People.

Brooklyn Eagle.

President Roosevelt's radio talk on Sunday evening seems to have been quite as well received as his first direct report to the people eight weeks ago. It can not be denied that Mr. Roosevelt is making more effective use of the radio than any one could have dreamed a few months ago. His frank, direct and simple statements make a tremendous appeal to millions who never before gave much thought to governmental problems.

This is one aspect of the "new deal" which few people had reckoned with. It gives the President infinitely greater power than any of the so-called "dictatorial" grants of authority given him by Congress. It enables him to do more than go over the heads of legislators—he can appeal directly to the hearts and the intelligence of the people.

The basis of his appeal is also new. It is free from partisanship and is largely nonpolitical. Primarily, it is an appeal to the individual sense of order and unity. In a time of great confusion, when most people are bewildered by threatening chaos, President Roosevelt has not only evolved a plan for national action, but is having marked success in "selling" his plan to the people.

A French Quibble.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The opposition of France to the Roosevelt proposal for a tariff truce until June 12, when the London Economic Conference assembles, affords a classic example of Gallic quibbling. According to the French, two proposals have been made, or rather two reasons have been given, for the temporary cessation of economic warfare. The one, it is understood in Paris, was set forth by President Roosevelt to former Premier Herriot, the other by Norman H. Davis before the organization committee now meeting in the British capital. The President's view, as the French see it, is that the tariff race in Europe and the jockeying for position in advance of the London meeting should be stopped at the earliest possible moment. Mr. Davis' argument is that it would be impossible to discuss trade barriers and restrictions at London if the situation were constantly changing.

The Greatest Economic Venture.

Minneapolis Journal.

With passage by the House of the farm relief and inflation bill the United States will have entered upon the most momentous and far reaching plan for economic rehabilitation in all history. Preceding efforts, the marketing act under which the Farm Board operated, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the others, each in its time unprecedented in form and importance, seem now to have shrunk to mere incidents.

This gigantic and many phased plan, constructive in purpose, embodies the highest motives and responds to the Nation-wide plea that good times be brought back. It reflects the collective thought of many minds of great ability. With some conscientious dissent and some expression of doubt as to its efficacy, in the main it will find acceptance. No man can accurately foresee the operation in details or the effect in particulars of its manifold and widely ramifying provisions. If the good wishes of the people and the hope that in it the sovereign remedy has been found will do it, great success bringing us rapidly back to normalcy should follow.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

BROADCASTING NEXT YEAR'S KENTUCKY DERBY.

(In view of the foul riding by Jockeys Meade and Fisher in the recent running.)

There's a slight delay in the paddock, folks . . . The jockeys can't agree on a suitable referee . . . They're having quite an argument, most of the boys refusing to accept Honest John Whomiss because they say he failed to see the rabbit punch in last year's Derby.

* * * *

Here they come! . . . It ought to be a splendid race! . . . The jockeys on the four leading choices look in the pink of condition . . . They won their last three fights by knockouts, and it is sure to be a very exciting bout here this afternoon.

They're at the post now . . . The starter is examining the gloves . . . This year the jockeys will not be allowed to tape their fists with more than two thicknesses, and the use of plaster is being strictly prohibited . . . Just a minute . . . They've just put one of the boys on the outside post position for having a horseshoe in his glove!

The boys are sparring slowly . . . Sort of feeling one another out . . . In a race as important as the Kentucky Derby a jockey has to measure his opponents very carefully and not waste any punches.

The referee has all the horses in line now and is reading the boxing rules to the jockeys . . . The Derby will be raced under strict Marquis of Queensberry rules, the boys to break clean at the command . . . In case of a knockdown between two contenders the upright jockey must step back and go to a neutral corner.

* * * *

They're off! . . . Oh, what footwork! . . . What boxing! . . . I never saw a prettier Kentucky Derby! . . . Gallant Jack is out in front now! . . . He is ahead on points! . . . He seems to have Long Shot King clearly outclassed both in cleverness and in punching power!

There's a left! . . . And a right! . . . And another left! . . . Boy, what a fight we're seeing on old Churchill Downs today! . . . There's a left to the chin! . . . And a right to the body! . . . McGinty on Long Shot King is groggy! . . . He just lost his mouthpiece! . . . But he's still slugging with both hands! . . . Oh! . . . Cooney on Gallant Jack just caught McGinty with a terrific solar plexus punch! . . . The judges are counting over McGinty! . . . One! . . . Two! . . . Three! . . . Four! . . . Five! . . . Gallant Jack has won the Kentucky Derby! . . . What a battle! . . . What a battle!

METAPHOR JIM.

"The President's hand is on the throttle and nobody need fear a torrent of cheap money."—Postmaster General Farley. His head out the cab window, he is sending the old ship of state down the shining steel rails at 50 knots an hour, determined that, rain or snow, the old American Eagle will fly a course straight to the finish line and come by the judge's stand the best boxer in the fight.

A CORRECTION.

"Briton, Here, Finds Our Faces Brighter."—Headline. Whiter, not brighter.

Henry Ford says the country has made a complete turn-around and is now going forward. Here's hoping it wasn't merely a skid.

Mr. Ford, incidentally, thanks Mr. Roosevelt for the change and says he is a great President. Recalling Henry's dire predictions of disaster if the people did not keep Mr. Hoover in Washington, we can only say that his speed in reverse is wonderful.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Objects to Excessive Charges by Certain Physicians and Surgeons.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: While the Government is exercising so much paternal care over us in regulating banks, food, finance, &c., would it not be well to see that some provision is made to protect us from robbery by physicians and surgeons? Some "leading" physicians are fast entering upon the methods of the kidnapers. "How much will you give to save your child, wife or husband? How much is your life worth to you?" It has become a disgrace to the profession, and I can not understand how it is permitted in the profession unless all approve. It would seem there should be a few honest doctors who would put an end to the abuse.

Every honest surgeon knows the exorbitant bills charged are not earned. The dishonest ones merely find out what a man is worth and charge all they can. In times of illness a man does not feel like bargaining with a surgeon; therefore he is usually plundered. If the patient objects later there is no redress, because usually a "bargain" has not been made. The value of a man's life is no basis for a doctor's bill. A man in any profession who can make $100 for a few minutes' work is well paid.

The newspapers frequently tell of such abuse, but publicity brings no relief. This seems to me a more important need than regulating wages.

Gentlemen:

Department stores that have watched the decline in prices of all lines during three years have long wondered why no move was made by local newspapers to bring their rates in line with present day conditions.

Your courageous action is deserving of the very highest commendation and is bound to be followed by such an increase in advertising space that you will be more than gratified.

Post readers have always constituted a class that really understands good merchandise values and are quickly responsive when these values are placed before them. Now that you have made it possible for more and more such news to appear in your columns it is going to be helpful to your readers as well as to the live merchants in this community.

More power to you -- keep up the good progress.

My dear Mr. Marks:

We were more than pleased to learn of the reduction in advertising rates introduced by the Washington Post on Monday.

In our opinion, advertising - particularly in the newspapers - when properly used has been one of the most vital weapons in combating upset business conditions.

This reduction in rate permit the advertiser to use more advertising for the same expenditure. We do not believe that there has ever been a time when such a possibility would be more welcome.

Down to earth.

What I am trying to say is, that your institution is to be congratulated and commended upon its ability to "sense the time".

It has been the writer's conviction for some time that advertising rates should be based on the purchasing power of the reading circulation and not on its numerical strength, without reference to the ability of the people to pay.

Your revised rates accomplish this, you should do well, the writer wishes you well, and hopes before long to give some more practical demonstration of his personal appreciation of your new and sensible policy.

Dear Sir:

I was very much gratified to learn of the Post's new rate, and feel that it is a valuable contribution to the business men of Washington.

In view of present merchandising problems it reduces the advertising overhead and the Post is to be congratulated for their courage in this 'New Deal'.

Very truly yours,

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

HOSPITAL patients and invalids in all parts of the country will doubtless be cheered this morning by the return of the "Shut-in-Hour," a contribution of Capt. Taylor Branson and the Marine Band. It marks the band's first broadcast since it was recently restored to the air by Secretary Swanson.

The opening number on the program will be the "Poet and Peasant Overture" played in response to a request from a bereaved mother in Brooklyn. It was the favorite selection of her invalid son, who regularly listened to the Marine Band concerts, but who recently died.

The "Shut-in Hour" will be heard every Friday morning at 10 o'clock over WMAL.

Miss Maude Aiton, principal of the Americanization School of the District, will make a short address on "The Opportunity the Americanization School Affords" and will then present one of her Norwegian pupils, Mrs. Sola Holman, soprano, in a Norwegian song recital over the "Among Women" period of the federation at 11 o'clock this morning over Station WMAL. Mrs. Holman will be accompanied by Mr. John Kiernan.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarey, of the Mayo Clinic, will talk on "Danger Signals in Stomach Cancer." (WJSV, 1:45 p. m.)

IT may be of interest to Jack LaGorce, of the National Geographic, and possibly others, to learn that his old friend, Gene Tunney, will appear with Edwin Hill on the "Inside Story" program tonight (WJSV, 8:30 o'clock).

The former champion and Hill will engage in an informal conversation and it is expected no blows will be exchanged. The Hoosier news commentator has prepared material for dramatizations of highlights in the boxer's career, which will be presented against a musical background by Nathaniel Shilkret, who seems to be able to devise music for any occasion.

Hill, by the way, has just made his first stage appearance. He does a skit similar to his Friday night radio presentation. It is hard for those of us who used to work with Ed on the old New York Sun to imagine him an actor.

We have read, and believe it is probably true, that up until recently Hill never made a public speech in his life. Nevertheless, he has made a smashing hit over the radio. He talks as good as he writes, which is going some, because Hill is unquestionably one of the best newspaper reporters New York ever saw.

Sir Wilmott Lewis, of the London Times, once told me he thought Ed. Hill was one of the best five reporters he had ever known. Two of these, if memory serves correctly, were London journalists. Another was Martin Greene, of the old New York World.

IF a listener has not been in a studio during a dramatic presentation it is doubtless hard to realize the troubles performers sometimes have. An amusing incident is related by Violet Wachter in "Doors," a local program over WMAL, at 9:30 o'clock tonight. "For a recent presentation of 'Doors' all the story action took place on a passenger train," she said, "and we needed a record for the sound effects. Taking it for granted that they had the record at WMAL, I didn't bother asking for it until just a few minutes before going on. Well, you've guessed it, the record wasn't there.

"I jumped into a car and tore up to WRC and I don't mind telling you that every darn light on F street seemed to be against us. (We should have had H. Hull's police escort). Well I ran out of the car, waited possibly two minutes, but it seemed all of two years, for the elevator, finally got into the WRC studios and jumped at the hostess with. 'Quick, I want some train noises.' Of course she thought I was crazy and would, no doubt, have had me thrown out on my ear, but luckily, Mr. Rogers happened to be about and we rooted through the files until we found what we wanted. Out I skipped, down the elevator into the car, which, by the by, was playing merry-go-round the block and got into WMAL with our train just two minutes before going on * * * Phew!

"And, thank goodness, announcers know how to do most anything. The announcer, Fred Shawn, grabbed the records, put them on the turn-table and had them all marked and ready to run. Wasn't it Will Rogers or some one who said * * * 'The show must go on?'"

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will head a distinguished group of speakers this afternoon, as they address the Mother's Day luncheon of the Maternity Center Association in New York.

The general subject under discussion will be "Preventable Maternal Deaths." Other speakers will include Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor; Dr. Walter W. Chipman, consulting obstetrician of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal; Dr. J. Allison Hodges, president of the Medical Society of Virginia, and Drs. Linsly R. Williams and S. S. Goldwater (WRC, 12:30; WJSV, 1 o'clock).

Some one else twitting Harris Hull, the Postillion, remarked that last Sunday night he was the thorn between two roses. Just ahead of him on WMAL was President Roosevelt and immediately following him was Eugene Ormandy and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Shortly after the Royal Scot, record-breaking flier of the London, Midlands & Scottish Railways, rolls into Grand Central Terminal this afternoon, an announcer will go aboard equipped with pack transmitters to describe the famous train for radio listeners (WJZ network, but probably not WRC, 2:15 o'clock).

The Royal Scot arrived recently in Montreal from London and is now making an exhibition tour of the United States en route to the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition.

The Royal Scot, regular crack train on the London-Edinburgh run, set a world nonstop record in 1928 for the 400 miles, averaging 52 miles per hour for the trip.

The Chicago cop who floored a bandit by butting him in the stomach wins the plaudits of Isabelle Carothers, Lu, of Clara, Lu 'n' Em. Says Lu: "I just adore a man who uses his head."

IN recognition of Hospital Day, which has been set aside as a tribute to Florence Nightingale, Mary M. Roberts, editor of the American Journal of Nursing, will speak (WJSV, 9:15 a. m.)

Marie Sidenius Zendt, soprano, will sing on a special Hospital Day program from Chicago (WJSV, 3 p. m.).

Dr. Bert Caldwell, secretary of the American Hospital Association, will speak briefly, outlining the significance of the day.

Grand Duchess Marie, of Russia, will tell of "My Experience as a War Nurse." (WEAF network but not WRC, 5:15 p. m.)

"First Love to Last" from the new Janet Gaynor picture "Adorable" is one of the tunes which Leo Reisman will feature (WRC, 8:30 p. m.)

The members of the Travelers Quartet will turn weather prophets as they predict "Stormy Weather" as the highlight of the Jubilee program with Dolph Martin's orchestra (WJSV 6:30 p. m.

Selections from George White's "Scandals of 1932" and the current Broadway production "Take A Chance" will be presented in two featured medleys by Phil Spitalny and his vocal and instrumental ensemble during the Nestle program, (WMAL, 7 p. m.)

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—Pearl S. Buck, who popularized China as a background for fiction writers, was strolling through Mott street in New York's Chinatown when she was hailed by a policeman.

She stopped puzzled, as the cop came up and asked: "Say there, young lady. Aren't you the author?"

"Well, I do write," she admitted.

"I just wanted to tell you," the cop explained, "that your novel is one of the best I ever read."

Mrs. Buck's visit to Mott and Pell streets probably developed scant material for her writing. There is very little atmosphere left about Chinatown these days, and what there is remains largely for the benefit of sightseeing bus passengers.

"Ol Deb'l River."

That colony of Social Register lights who have erected a neighborhood of penthouses overlooking the East River find that it has many of the same disadvantages accompanying life by the railway tracks.

The light sleepers complain that they are awakened at dawn each morning when the Boston and Providence boats arrive. But what is more annoying comes shortly after midnight when a tugboat captain decides to blow off steam and relieve his boilers. For 30 minutes or more the shrieking whish of escaping steam keeps the whole vicinity awake.

There was a time, too, when the patients in the several hospitals on the banks of the river were disturbed continually by tugboat whistles. Complaints were made, but the municipal authorities never got around to doing anything to remedy the matter.

Finally, one of the officials of the Port Authority became ill and was taken to one of these hospitals. After listening to whistles a few hours, he picked up the telephone and started issuing orders. Now any tugboat captain who sounds his whistle near one of these hospitals will find his license revoked immediately.

Park Avenue Steps Out.

June Blossom, pretty blond debutante, has become almost as active theatrically as has that other Social Registerite, Hope Williams.

June made her stage debut last fall in a musical comedy in which she distinguished herself as a comedienne. Now she has turned ballroom dancer with Ward Fox as her partner.

The boyish looking Miss Williams went from dramatic stardom to become a song and dance partner to Jimmie "Schnozzola" Durante. During the summer she manages a dude ranch in Montana.

Clifton Webb has recovered from injuries received when he fell off a bicycle in Bermuda.

FEATURES FOR WOMEN

Dr. Evans Tells Parents How to Cure Child's "Won't" Attitude.

The Meanderer

Discovers That Fancy Foods May Be Delivered With New Hats and Gowns.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

The hors d'oeuvres for the dinner party may arrive on the same motor delivery that brings the hostess' dinner gown, the Meanderer learned in visiting a brand-new food shop opened this week by a department store on F street. So popular has the food shop become, even in a few days, that the space allotted to the new venture already is considered too small. The shopper's privilege of buying choice foods under the same roof with clothes, dishes, needles and thread is partly responsible for the quick response to the food department's establishment, those in charge told the Meanderer. But the out-of-the-ordinary array of foods at surprisingly low prices such as the new shop shows, would sell swell in any environment, the Meanderer decided on her first visit to the novel corner on the fifth floor.

English style preserves, one of the best-known brands, are 25 and 30 cents for a 16-ounce jar in this department store food shop. One of the unusual marmalades in this collection is made of wild strawberries.

Pickles in almost infinite variety are ready in the fancy food shop. Sweet cucumber pickles, plain or mixed, sweet baby melon pickles. The Meanderer has never tasted their rivals. Sweet bur gherkins, cauliflower pickles, sweet bur mangoes, chow chow, cocktail onions and a minced pickle mixture known as "hot stuff," for use in sandwiches, are some of the kinds at 25 and 35 cents a jar, about which the Meanderer is sure her readers want to know.

Today and tomorrow piping hot tea from one of the oldest and most reliable tea houses in the world will be served to shoppers in the new shop, with a representative from the famous tea house as hostess. For 67 years this tea house has served the Kings and Queens of England, and nearly that long has had a heavy American trade. "It was hard for the English to understand why we Americans use so much more tea in the summer than we do in the winter," the tea-serving hostess told the Meanderer. "Iced tea explains it, of course. But iced tea is never served in England." The brands best for iced or hot teas are ably discussed by the tea expert.

Cakes for Mother's Day, appropriately iced, may be ordered today in two of the best known local bake shops. Any sort of cake may be made to order, and iced with any lettering or colors the shopper desires.

Picnic hams that are a popular buy with Meandering's readers are only 89 cents in the bake shops just mentioned. They are cooked with spices in Virginia style.

Tall cans of condensed tomato soup containing 27 ounces sell for 10 cents or two cans for 19 cents. If the soup is prepared according to the directions on the cans, six servings can be obtained from this new size in soups. Mothers who frequently serve soups to their children will be glad to know about this new size which makes it necessary to open only one can where two were nearly always necessary.

Mr. Clarkson began his telephone career in the spring of 1898 as a bookkeeper in the Washington office of the company.

VARIOUS LINES OF PLAY.

In a recent Howell game in New York City a very interesting Slam hand came up. Accurate bidding was necessary to reach this Slam, but the best play in the world could not be successful against the best defense. Out of ten teams holding the hand, only three reached a Slam. Of these, only one made it. Analyzing this hand from the viewpoint of the various lines of play that were possible proved interesting, indeed.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♡	Pass
3◇	Pass	4♡	Pass
6♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

This bidding is correct and is a very fine example of a well-bid Slam. In each case a small club was opened by East. Declarer now had several lines of play available. As this was played in a Howell game, the temptation to play the hand for seven at the expense of lessening the chances of safety making six was very great.

The safest line of play to make six, obviously, would seem to be to return to one's hand with the Ace of Spades, lead a diamond to Dummy, winning with the Ace, and discard two clubs on the spades. This line of play, if successful, would now leave the Declarer with one of two finesses (the diamond or the heart) to make six-odd. An alternative seemingly-safe play for six is to return to one's hand with the Ace of Spades, ruff a club in Dummy, discard one diamond and the last club on the King and Queen of Spades, and concede one heart trick, unless the King is a doubleton in the West hand.

Two of the Declarers immediately decided to play for six rather than take a more dangerous line of play for seven. As one glance at the distribution of the East and West hands will show, the Declarer was almost immediately set two or three tricks, due to a series of ruffs by the opposition. The player who immediately returned to his hand with the Ace of Spades and then started to return to Dummy with a diamond found his diamond King trumped, and a low spade return, on which he discarded a losing club, was also trumped. Thus was the safe and cautious player rewarded.

One player, playing against weak opposition, boldly decided to play for seven, and to Trick two he immediately led the heart Ten from Dummy, playing small from his hand. The East player was not very wideawake or he would have stayed off with the King of hearts. The Declarer would then have been compelled to finesse a second time. East would have won the King and since there were no more trumps in Dummy, he would have taken two club tricks. Since East held three hearts, his King would still have been guarded, if he refused to win the first round. There is no excuse for not making the play.

As a matter of fact, most expert players, holding only the King and one heart in this position, would probably refuse to win the first round, knowing that all the trumps must be removed from Dummy before the defense gets in, so that it may cash two club tricks. East, however, not only won the first round of hearts but failed to lead a diamond. A diamond return, of course, would have been ruffed by West and the contract would have been set one trick. East made what amounted to a "give-up" play by returning another trump. Declarer, due to the bidding, was marked with the spade Ace, and therefore was almost sure to make the rest of the tricks on this line of defense.

Of course, after the heart return, the hand is a lay-down for six, as the diamond finesse shows up when the Ace is played from Dummy on the first round of the suit. Therefore, in this particular instance, the unduly bold player who decided to play for seven rather than steer his vessel over a safer course for six was rewarded by being the only one to fulfill the Slam contract.

"TAURUS."

If May 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:55 a. m. to 9:20 a. m., from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. and from 8:30 p. m. to 9:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:20 p. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:40 p. m.

Influences operating on this day will tend to make you lose control of your emotions; you will find it difficult to keep yourself in hand and you will tend to be nervous and irritable.

The child born on this May 12 will be inclined to practice deception in his relations with others; he will prove himself a difficult little one to "pin down" to a statement or admission of any sort. He will show dramatic ability and should be a good dancer. Very excitable.

If May 12 is the date of your birth, you are quite likely a person of considerable physical strength; you always do your share of work, be it physical or mental in nature, and on occasions not rare you find yourself helping to carry other people's burdens.

Born on May 12, you are a very observant person. You seem to have a natural ability for languages. You have your own rare and distinct way of phrasing your thoughts and you express yourself well. Journalism should prove interesting work for you.

Successful people born on May 12:
Frank Crane, journalist.

Robert C. Winthrop, statesman.
Ezra Miller, inventor.

The Mode

By DARE

It has always been a question to the thrifty housewife as to whether it pays or does not pay to send out her laundry. And it will always be one that must be solved by the individual, depending upon the amount of time she has in which to do her own washing, upon her strength and her household allowance.

That laundries have made quite remarkable strides in the last three years is a matter brought to light by research workers. The scientific handling of laundry is most interesting and, what your bundle goes through from the time you have listed it and given it to the driver to the time it returns to you either damp washed, flat rough dry with all the flat work ironed or mangled, or finished is nothing short of astounding.

For the home laundress, one or two facts borrowed from the big laundrying concerns would not be amiss. That you should never wash pastel colored silks in water hotter than 100 degrees—which isn't so very hot, for instance. Or that you should use three to five sudsings and soapings, and at least five rinsings, the first two in fairly hot water. These are things that laundries have spent thousands of dollars finding out—yours for the reading of this.

That dark colors are often washed in tepid water, some laundries even using cold water throughout. That the acids which are used for whitening and stain removing are never used when garments are dirty, but only after they have been washed and rinsed—then they are immersed in the acid solution, and after that rinsed again.

And lastly, that it is far less a matter of elbow grease than it is one of plenty of water and plenty of soap often. That might be the reason that your things never come out quite as nicely at home as they do in the laundries! But that being as it may, nowadays you need not fear to send things to the laundries because of the idea that they are "ruined" by laundries. That might have been true at one time, but it certainly is no longer so.

This week's leaflet tells you how to fringe, and how to make a new kind of very interesting trimming from rings—ten cents, a dozen ones.. A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post will bring this helpful leaflet to you—so send for it.

Keeping Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

There should be wide interest in the program of antagonisms through which children go as they follow out the schedule of life. The reason is that it affects so many children in so many ways and at so many periods of life that it creates problems in a multitude of families. It is often noticed in rather early infancy.

By the time a baby is ready to be put on the bottle he is in the age of antagonisms, and, in many instances, he has accumulated a few. Most of these relate to feeding. A breast-fed baby is far more apt to act instinctively.

Many, perhaps most of the difficulties with poor appetite children are because of these antagonisms. The mother wants the baby to eat at a time that does not exactly suit him, and babies have very definite likes and dislikes; or to eat some food that he does not want. The ogre of antagonism arises and very soon the baby is negative-minded on the eating proposition and other proposals the mother makes. The child soon becomes a poor eater. The best remedy for a situation of this kind is to put the poor appetite child at the table with some of his playmates and let nature take its course.

When the child has grown a little older the expression of antagonism will probably relate to something other than eating. It will take on a new form. Presently the school age period is reached. At this time it is quite likely to shift the scene from the home to the school, but this does not mean that the personality of the antagonist has been changed. It may still be a parent, or it may be the school teachers.

The progress from the total selfishness of the infant to the family relationships of the home, and from that to membership in a larger unit, the social life first of school children and later of sex conscious youth is accompanied by repeated change in the quality of antagonisms and the persons against whom they are directed.

Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

Parents regard it as natural and proper that their children should cheerfully run errands and do all sorts of little favors for them.

If they were asked to say why this seems right, they probably would say that it is a part of discipline or obedience, or perhaps that it is only right that children should make some effort to do things for those who do everything for them.

This seems a common impression of the relationship.

Yet if we are interested in cultivating in children the spirit of helpfulness and courtesy we will have to look in the matter a little differently.

Children take for granted (as they, indeed, have every right to do) the routine care they receive. They do not realize, nor is there any reason why the should, that this sometimes represents enormous sacrifice and devotion on the part of their parents.

They do notice, however, when their parents do little extra favors for them, and they notice equally when their own play is interrupted in order to run and do extra tasks for their parents.

No child should be interrupted frequently in his play, or without good reason. He will take interruptions and requests for little services with good grace in the long run only if mother sets him a good example in her own conduct.

When he comes to her with questions and requests she should make it a point to respond to them, letting him feel that she is glad for a moment to put aside her concerns for his and to do special favors for him.

Stocks Continue Advances, In Buoyant, Heavy Trading

New York, May 11 (A.P.)—Seething financial markets held to their chosen courses today, entering the fourth week of reviving optimism with an inclusive spurt that attained outstanding buoyancy on the grain exchanges.

Stocks charged ahead for many gains of 1 to 5 points and finished near the best. Profit-taking chipped the advance at times, but enthusiasm ran so high that it was almost as if the rally were a new experience rather than an extension of a movement that had been in progress for nearly a month. Bonds billowed upward and cotton closed with gains of $1.50 to $1.70 a bale. Other commodities, as well as textile markets, shared the advance.

Sales of stocks totaled 6,177,250 shares, the second largest turnover of the year. Interest shifted from issue to issue and group to group, and scores of shares registered new highs. The industrial and rail divisions, as measured by Standard Statistics-Associated Press composites, went to new 1933 tops and the 90-stock average, up 2 points net to 72 compared with 1932's high of 73.9.

Several individual shares distinguished themselves. U. S. Steel by penetrating 50 and Allied Chemical by coming within a fraction of 100, though both fell back. Union Pacific's response to a regular $1.50 dividend was a 5-point advance. Consolidated Gas of New York, Western Union, Norfolk & Western, Du Pont, Detroit Edison and several less prominent issues were up 3 or more. United Aircraft, Industrial Rayon, Owens-Illinois Glass, National Distillers, Wilson & Co., Armour of Illinois "A," Liggett & Myers "B," National Biscuit, American Telephone, New York Central, Santa Fe, Anaconda and International Telephone rose 1 to 4. General Motors, ex dividend, rallied a point on huge volume.

BONDS SET RECORD IN BEST 1933 GAINS

New York, May 11 (A.P.)—Bond market enthusiasm was unabated today and many issues climbed to the highest levels of the past year or more in unusually active trading.

Sales totaled $23,098,000, par value, the largest aggregate since September 24, 1931. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans advanced 1.2 points to 72.2, a new 1933 high.

While all classes of listed bonds shared in the vigorous forward movement, railway liens were easily the leaders. United States Government securities were firm and various foreign obligations, notably those of Japan, moved substantially higher. "Gilt-edge" maturities generally were moderately improved. The continued strength of the loans market was attributed largely to growing trade and industrial optimism.

Carrier gainers of 1 to 4 or more points included some bonds of Alleghany Corporation, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Central Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul, and Chicago & Northwestern.

Heartened South Estimates Cotton Rise at $135,000,000

As merriment held sway at the third annual cotton carnival, cotton dealers, basing their estimate on an average crop of 12,000,000 bales, said recent gains in cotton prices have increased the value of the South's supreme crop by more than $135,000,000 within the last month.

"The rise," said C. G. Henry, general manager of the Midsouth Cotton Growers Association, "is due to the possibilities of inflation and general better feeling."

CURB SENT HIGHER ON WAVE OF BUYING

New York, May 11 (A.P.)—The curb market swept into higher ground on a fresh wave of buying today. Trading expanded from 336,000 shares yesterday to 623,000 shares, representing the heaviest trading since May 1. Considerable profit-taking was indicated in the heavy churning that occured at times, but offerings were well absorbed and the close was near the best.

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. soared 13 points to close at 179.

WHEAT VALUES SOAR ON CROP LOSS NEWS

Top Advance of 5½ Cents Recorded; Corn and Oats in Upturn.

Chicago, May 11 (A.P.)—Excited by official announcement of the largest destruction of United States winter wheat ever known, bread grains scored a maximum advance of 5½ cents today.

Even the enactment of the Roosevelt combined inflation and agricultural bill took second place as a market influence, eclipsed by complete surprise over the abnormal crop outlook for 1933. Furious speculative buying in which there was scarcely any let up with the general public in the market to an extent not often equaled, sent prices skyrocketing to heights unreached heretofore this season for wheat, rye, corn and oats, with lard also outdoing the record. Rye made the steepest extreme gain, 5½ cents, wheat 3¾ and corn 2¾.

Latest quotations on all staples were not far from the day's top. Wheat closed buoyant, 2⅝ to 2¾ above yesterday's finish, rye 3¾ to 4¾ advance; corn 1⅜ to 2⅛ up; oats at ⅞ to 1⅛ gain, and provisions showing a rise of 5 to 30 cents.

Buying in Fit.

Despite huge selling to realize profits, in the late transactions, the wheat pit especially continued to be ablaze with buying enthusiasm. New waves of purchase orders came with redoubled force on price setbacks. The Government crop report was generally construed by traders as indicating the nearest to a failure that wheat in this country has ever met with at this part of the season. Leading unofficial authorities said the report showed United States winter wheat throughout an enormous area was dead, not merely injured.

Widespread notice was taken of a statement from one of the largest grain companies in Chicago that wheat acreage in the United States had been reduced to a point at which any artifical curtailment either of wheat or any other bread grain might easily be flirting with famine. The fact was stressed that the Government crop report indicated the smallest harvest of domestic winter wheat in 29 years. Attention was also drawn to reports showing a none too rosy outlook for spring wheat.

Corn distinguished itself by soaring to above 50 cents a bushel, December delivery of corn went to 50¾. A special reason was heavy new rains over practically all of the corn belt east of the Missouri River, rendering plowing or planting almost impossible. Oats followed corn and wheat upgrade.

COTTON PRICES RISE ON GENERAL BUYING

July Sells at 8.95 With Market Quotations Up 30 to 34 Points.

New York, May 11 (A.P.).—A further advance of $1.50 a bale or more on active general buying in cotton here today carried prices into new high ground for the moment, with all the coming crop positions selling well above the 9-cent level.

After selling at 8.85 early, July reacted to 8.77, but the buying movement continued and sent the price to 8.97 or 33 points net higher in the late trading. That delivery closed at 8.95, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 30 to 34 points.

Initial prices were 16 to 22 points higher on overnight buying orders stimulated by the passage of the farm relief bill and firm Liverpool cables. Demand came from many sources, including houses with foreign connections, but the advance encountered heavy realizing coupled with increased Southern selling.

This caused reactions of several points, but the market firmed again in the late trading on a continuation of the demand combined with covering or rebuying by earlier sellers. October advanced to 9.21 and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best on most positions.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was strong today on active covering and commission house buying with new high records for the year established.

The sharp upturn in cotton, lard, grains, hogs and stocks as well as crude oil were the principal factors, and although final prices were a little off from the best they were still 12 to 19 points above the previous close. Sales were 82 contracts. Bleachable spot and May closed 5.00, July 8.15, September 5.27, December 5.48.

The Democratic committee of Arlington County decided last night to increase its membership from 11 to 22, providing for 2 members from each of the 11 precincts of the county.

Members will be elected at the next regular primary election on the first Tuesday in August. It was announced that candidates must file notice with and pay an election fee of $5 to the county chairman, William L. Bragg, 60 days prior to the election.

The committee also adopted a resolution requiring all organizations claiming affiliations with the Democratic party in the county to obtain charters from the county committee. ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

TO those who remember her best as an ingenuous young woman who made a mouse-like and diffident debut upon the stage as a member of the old Columbia Players in this city, and who, throughout the period of her stellar association with Henry Miller and his productions, was a demure and almost puritanically proper young artiste, Ruth Chatterton in her later manifestations becomes increasingly an enigma.

Ruth Chatterton.

It was a shock of the first magnitude when Miss Chatterton made her first screen appearance opposite Emil Jannings in "Sins of the Father," if memory serves, in the role of a lady of the pavements who made especially virulent most of the vices to which those who ply the oldest profession eventually become inured.

Scarcely less incongruous seemed her willingness to don the abbreviated costumes of a honky-tonk dancing girl in "Sarah and Son" and only recently the climax of the grotesque—her earlier career being what it was—was reached when this once impeccably chaste actress assumed the role of the "queen of the underworld," high priestess of vice, bootlegger and extortionist, in "Frisco Jenny."

However, the new life seems to intrigue Miss Chatterton no little, for here she comes again in a vehicle dealing with subject matter and types that were as far removed from the activities of her previous incarnation as a stage artiste as one pole is from the other.

In "Lilly Turner," opening today at the Earle, Miss Chatterton is a medicine show gal who does her stuff under the kerosene flares, all dolled up in pink tights and loose talk!

The metamorphosis apparently is complete in the viewpoint and nature of the quiet little girl who used to shy away even from the most sedate of informal "parties" in order that she might curl up in a corner by herself and read some classic book!

It is just such big things as that that make little reminiscent items like this.

Speaking of the Earle, Dick Powell, remembered for tuneful work in "Blessed Event" and "Forty-Second Street," who appears in person on Thirteenth street as headliner of the vaudeville bill, beginning today, arrives in town this morning at 7:30 o'clock, direct from a nice easy jump arranged for him by the booking office. He comes here from New Orleans!

Dick is reputed to be a real performer who has scored on the stage for years, whereas his success on the screen has been of comparatively recent vintage. He is raconteur, instrumentalist and singer, all rolled into one. In case you miss him at the station, he will be parked at the Willard.

And as long as we are messing around with the general topic of music, you might care to know that Manager Orangelo Ratto, of the Palace, who fingers a mean one himself, is prompted by the Hotel Lucher scene in "Reunion in Vienna," when John Barrymore invokes music as an aid in melting Diana Wynyard's stubborn frigidity, to give away a piano accordion—one of the implements of Mr. Barrymore's assault—to some lucky patron.

It works this way. In the window of the Homer L. Kitt Co. is an accordion. In the lobby of the Palace there is also an accordion. Piano accordions, both. Now all that needs to be done to win the accordion in the Palace lobby is to guess the serial number on the accordion in the Kitt window.

Coupons to be filled out will be supplied at the theater, and to make it simple as rolling off a log to get the correct number, the management divulges the fact that it is somewhere between 1 and 5,000.

Which, of course, is practically telling the answer!

As an extra added feature on next week's bill at the Rialto—the Rialto bills are broken out on Saturdays—in conjunction with "The Kiss Before the Mirror," the fourth of the Morton Downey series of short musical subjects for Universal, "My Pal, the Prince," will be presented. With Mr. Downey, the Irish thrush, in this subject will be George Givot, recently here in person at Loew's Fox and on the broadcasts with Waring's Pennsylvanians; Lewis Gensler, composer of "Ballyhoo" and Joe Cook's "Fine and Dandy," and Harold Stern's Hotel Moritz Orchestra.

Some fun, eh kid?

Word filters cautiously to this desk that the current floor show at the Madrillon is as colorful and full of kick as a pousse cafe—or didn't your thirst run to rainbows?

Dorothy Skinner, blonde singing star, whose Washington popularity has been crowned by a Broadway success; Jack "Gay" Schaeffer, newly discovered trumpet sensation; Eddy Gale, m. c., and Herb Gordon's Orchestra are the outstanding features. Along with the cuisine, of course! Along with the cuisine of all eight courses, you might almost say!

And over at the Russian Troika they are making all sorts of to-do over something new under the cabaret sun-arc—Russian Gypsy crooning. This novelty is being offered by a young singer born in the heart of the Ukraine, where she learned all of the old Gypsy ballads of the Caucasus as a child. While a student at Hunter College, New York—a far cry from Kiev—this dark-eyed singer won two beauty contests, one a collegiate affair, the other sponsored by the Russian colony.

Her name is Sonya Kotliarakaya.

Approximately ignorant of Russian as we are, the second and third syllables at least, have a familiar ring!

Marker Placed by Grange At Washington Landmark

A marker for the site of historic Rhodes' Tavern, where George Washington dined on his last journey from Philadelphia to Mount Vernon, was dedicated yesterday by the Pomona Grange of Prince Georges County. The tavern is located near Beltsville.

At a combined meeting of the Pomona and Eureka Granges, at Chillum, Md., before he dedication, the Beltsvillle Grange was awarded the traveling gavel for the best report of activities in surbordinate granges.

The meeting also enacted a resolution to have the grange set up a booth at the Marlboro Fair, instead of holding a fair of its own.

Mrs. L. O. Malley was elected delegate to Middle Atlantic States lecturers' conference at Ithaca, N. Y.

The dedication exercises were opened with an invocation by the Rev. John E. Quesley, followed by the singing of "America" by the crowd that covered the lawn of the historic house.

The marker was then presented by H. J. Patterson, chairman of the grange committee. Kent R. Mulliken, representing the Prince Georges County Bicentennial Committee, made the acceptance speech.

After a solo by Edna Souder, several historical sketches concerning George Washington's relations with Prince Georges County were given by C. C. Magruder, chairman of the bicentennial commission.

The main address was by J. Alexis Shriver. Prof. Geary Epply, master of the Pomona Grange, presided.

BROWNS DEFEAT NATS, 4-3, ON HOME RUN IN 9TH

5,000 Watch Londos Win; E. Dusek Goes to Hospital

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

ERNIE DUSEK lost to Jim Londos at the Auditorium last night, but he was foresighted enough to lose in such a manner that the way is open for a return bout, possibly at the ball park where room can be made for several thousand additional cash customers.

Approximately 5,000 fans, including many prominent restaurant proprietors and the little lady who sits in the front row hurling verbal encouragement to her favorites, viewed the proceedings. The majority of these booed heartily when Jimmie Lake announced Londos as the world champion.

"How about Joe Savoldi," they yelled.

Dusek's hopes for victory vanished 47½ minutes after the start of the bout when he went hurtling through the ropes, after missing a flying tackle, bumbity-bumping downstairs onto the main floor of the Auditorium. Referee Ed Brockman, imported from Baltimore especially for the occasion (remember the Savoldi affair) rushed over and slapped a 10-count on him as he lay there rendered hors d'combat by the fall.

Up until that juncture, what edge there was belonged to Dusek. Londos inaugurated the proceedings with his customary mile walk, after which he paused, grabbed his opponent by the wrists and made it first down at mid-ring.

A punishing toe hold that had all the earmarks of the genuine article, apparently disagreed with Mr. Savoldi's late friend, but he knows the ropes of the game. So he crawled over to them and out of the ring. Dusek clamped the same hold on him several times in rapid succession and a look of worry and pain encompassed the Greek's features. But Londos had his innings, too. He put a couple of splits on Ernie that did the lad no good whatsoever.

Dusek came out of it, twice evading scissors locks attempted by the "champ." Once on his feet, he stole a bit of Londos' act, the bicycle run, while resting up. To all intents, Dusek evidently was preparing to take

Tribe Victor, 4-1; Leads League

Harder Helps at Bat, Getting Home Run in Fifth.

CLEVELAND, May 11 (A.P.).—Young Mel Harder pitched and batted the Indians into an exclusive claim on first place in the American League today as Cleveland defeated Boston, 4 to 1.

The victory gave the Indians a half game lead over the Yankees, who were rained out at Chicago. It was the second time this season that the Tribe pushed New York out of the top of the league standing. On the previous occasion—last Sunday—the Yanks climbed right back again by defeating the Indians in the second game of a double-header, after losing the first.

Harder Clouts Home Run.

Capping an excellent six-hit pitching performance, Harder drove out a home run and also scored on a two-base hit.

In the fifth, Harder looked at a couple of balls and then smashed a home run into the left field stands. The Indians settled matters thoroughly in the next inning when they fell on Ivy Andrews for two runs. Burnett's single, Averill's triple and Morgan's fly did the business.

Rick Ferrell, the Red Sox's new catcher obtained from St. Louis, played his first game in a Boston uniform and contributed two hits. His first one, followed by singles by Alexander and Warstler, started the visitors' lone run-making inning.

CANADA WINS OVER CUBA ON COURT

Wright, Nunns Take Singles Matches in Good Fashion.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 11 (A.P.).—Canada moved to within one match of victory in the first round of the North American Zone Davis Cup play with Cuba by winning both of today's singles matches in impressive fashion.

Playing in between showers that threatened to postpone the second match the Canadians showed two outstanding players in Dr. Jack Wright, of Vancouver, a veteran of Davis Cup competition, and the more youthful Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, under fire for the first time in Davis Cup singles competition.

Wright needed all of his skill to outpoint Cuba's Ricardo Morales, in the second match, 8—6, 2—6, 6—1, 6—2, after Nunns had made short work of Lorenzo Nodarse, 6—1, 6—2, 6—0.

Wright and Marcel Rainville will play Morales and Arturo Randin, fourth ranking Cuban, in the doubles tomorrow, with a victory by the Canadians all that is needed to give them a chance against the United States in the zone finals.

In striking contrast to the youngsters who battled from the back court in the opener, Wright and Morales were all over the court to draw frequent rounds of applause from a small but fashionable gallery that numbered about 100 persons.

Both showed sizzling services, and both depend upon a net game at which the Canadian proved Morales' master.

Nunns, playing from the baseline, depended on a powerful forehand drive with which Nodares was unable to cope. The Canadian rarely came up and when he did often drove into the net. Seldom extended, however, the lanky Canadian took the first two sets, losing only three games, and won the third set at love.

Cards Defeat Braves, 2-1, Behind Hallahan

Boston, May 11 (A.P.).—Bill Hallahan received great infield support today as he chalked up his fourth victory of the season for the St. Louis Cardinals by holding the Boston Braves to seven hits to win, 2-1.

The Red Birds' infield clicked from start to finish, Pat Crawford, "Pepper" Martin and Leo Durocher turning in fielding gems that ruined several hard-hit drives the Braves slammed out in the pinches.

GIANTS LOSE TO PIRATES BY 7 TO 6

Lindstrom Big Star; Pittsburgh Leads by 3 Games.

NEW YORK, May 11 (A.P.).—Led by a former Giant, Freddy Lindstrom, the Pittsburgh Pirates increased their National League lead to three games today by nosing out the second place New Yorkers, 7 to 6.

Lindstrom hit safely his first three times at bat against southpaw Carl Hubbell, scoring two of the runs that gave the Bucs an early lead. Pittsburgh weighed in with an even dozen blows, most of them well bunched, but the Giants put on a last-minute spurt that gave them a total of 14 safeties and all but tied the score.

Heine Meine had only one bad inning before the eighth and a homer by Hubbell accounted for one of the three Giant runs in the early frames. In the eighth the New Yorkers bunched a pair of hits with a walk and a long fly for two runs and after two were out in the next frame they started a spurt that drove Meine to cover and brought in one run before Bill Harris came to the rescue and fanned Pinch Hitter George Uhle with the bases loaded.

His Second Defeat In Six Starts.

Hubbell's defeat was his second in six starts this season and he was hit harder than in any previous game. His hitting helped, however, as he followed his homer with a single that helped the Giants score twice in the third inning.

Dodgers Rally in 9th To Defeat Reds, 7 to 6

Brooklyn, May 11 (A.P.).—Lefty O'Doul and Jake Flower got together in a hitting burst that ruined Paul Derringer's pitching debut with the Cincinnati Reds today and gave the Dodgers a 7 to 6 victory in the series opener.

O'Doul pasted a home run and four singles in five trips to the plate and batted in five Brooklyn runs. His last blow drove home the tying tally in the ninth inning and Flowers followed with a single that won the game.

Nee Defeats Fondren on 27th Hole

Prep School Golfer Wins After Nine Extra Holes.

Nolan, Pitt, Shorey Gain Semifinals in Manor Play.

By DAVE HERMAN.

PLAYING nine extra holes in the longest and most spectacular overtime match in District golf tournament history, Maurice Nee, 17-year-old Manor Club star, outlasted W. D. (Dub) Fondren, medalist, and "dark horse" from Augusta, Ga., yesterday. He triumphed on the 27th hole to sweep into the semifinals of the Manor invitation championship, along with Parker Nolan, towering Indian Spring player; John Shorey, of Kenwood, and Harry Pitt, the home club's foremost contestant.

Drama was injected into this tense struggle between Nee and the Dixie threat after the sandy-haired junior champion blasted his chances for winning the match on the 18th hole by missing a short 3-foot putt.

Nee was two up at the turn, but the cool, deliberate-stroking Georgian with the rhythmic swing, caught up with his adversary by winning the twelfth and sixteenth, and they halved the remaining two holes.

Then followed the additional nine holes that produced some of the most brilliant recovery shots of the day.

Fondren Often Near Disaster.

Time and again during the overtime duel the slim Fondren flirted with disaster, only to shoot his way out of the wilderness of trouble in a manner that would have done honor to a Hagen or a Kirkwood. There was that nineteenth hole, Fondren hooked his drive deep in the woods, and still halved the hole in par fives.

Undaunted by a stymie on the twenty-fourth, Fondren whizzed around Nee's ball for a four, and they halved the twenty-fifth.

Fondren pulled his tee shot to the left on the twenty-sixth, but approached within 5 feet of the hole. Nee, not to be denied, landed 4 feet away. They missed their pars.

The climax had the gallery gasping. Every shot on this hole had a thrill, but the most thrilling of all was that niblick third the Georgian executed off a stump in the woods when the chances of getting on were 10 to 1 against him. He was 50 yards from the carpet, and had to cut around trees near him and play over a trap near the green. He waded into the ball. It skied high and dropped on. Nee was 15 feet away, approached within 2 feet, and Fondren putted the same distance.

"Let's call it," Fendron barked; meaning to concede both putts.

"Let's play it." Nee answered.

Fondren's ball swerved to the right of the hole, missing by inches and partially stymieing the local star. Nee, obviously nervous, tapped the ball gently. It hit the Georgian's ball, and dropped in for victory.

Nee, a student at Georgetown Prep, who in his morning match eleminated Martin McCarthy, Beaver Dam's big gun, 4 and 3, will meet Parker Nolan this morning at 10 o'clock. Nolan, back on his game and flashing old time form, put out C. W. Stoddard, of Manor, 5 and 4, and then beat Carl Snook, of Frederick, Md., 4 and 3.

In the other semifinals match, Harry Pitt, conqueror of Frank Weller, of Columbia, and Luther Steward, of Congressional, the latter by 4 and 3 will cross sticks with John Shorey, who turned back Beverly Mason, jr., of Chevy Chase, by 3 and 2, and Bobby Bowen, of Indian Spring, 4 and 3. Shorey was 4 up at the turn on Bowen.

Chocolate Is Ill; Bout Postponed

New York, May 11 (U.P.).—Return of big-time boxing to New York after an absence of several weeks was postponed for one week today when Kid Chocolate came down with a stomach ache and said he could not meet Seaman Tom Watson.

Chocolate is regarded in New York State as world featherweight champion, and Watson is the British title holder.

This was the second postponement of their meeting. The first came when Chocolate and his manager, Luis Gutierrez, got into a jam with immigration officials at Key West. Watson was then paired off with Fidel LaBarba, the earnest young Californian, and surprised with a decisive victory over "Fiddle." Watson returned to England. The circus came to Madison Square Garden, and the fight was all but forgotten.

Stewart Hurls Good Game as Also Does Irving Hadley.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 11.—The Browns said it with home runs this afternoon, two of 'em, and blackjacked Walter Stewart and the Nats into defeat just as Stewart and the Nats were about to screw the lid on another successful ball game.

Back in the band-box St. Louis Park, where he toiled for years only to see the nearby bleachers crawl in on the playing field and ensnare glorified pop flies for home runs, Stewart lost another heart-breaker today when the only two Brownies to reach second base scored ahead of two home runs into the convenient stands. The score was 4 to 3.

Ted Gullic, a Missouri boy who heretofore has been doing most of his hitting in batting practice, lifted the Browns out of the ruck in the ninth inning today on the wings of a well-placed homer into the left-center stands with Sam West on base that wiped out a one-run Washington lead and deposited the ball game in the laps of the Browns.

Ossie Bluege Gets Home Run.

A few minutes before, Ossie Bluege had instilled fond hopes of victory in the Nats when he slammed Irving Hadley's first pitch into the same bleachers to break up a 2-2 tie, but he had hardly donned the hero's mantle before Gullic rudely ripped it from his shoulders in the Browns' half of the inning.

Sammy West, erstwhile of the Griffith Stadium corps, assisted in putting the skids under Stewart and the Nats when he slashed a clean double to right-center to open the ninth with the Browns one run in arrears. The threat subsided a bit when Carl Reynolds flied deep to Goslin, whose iron arm kept West and the tying run on second base, but Gullic, who had struck out ingloriously the time before, lifted the second pitch over the head of Heinie Manush into the seats and the ball game was over.

A few innings before, in the fifth, Stewart watched a soaring clout by little Oscar Melillo wipe out his two-run lead he was working under. The

Somerville Entry Wins Over Kim

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 11. Mrs. T. H. Somerville bought a horse named Battleship. She turned the horse over to Preston Burch to train. She chose Mr. Carroll Bassett to ride the horse. And the horse, a 6-year-old son of Man o' War, won the fifth running of the Billy Barton Steeplechase. It was a race for hunters with gentlemen riders over a 3-mile course and only six of the eleven which tried the long gruelling test finished.

Today's victory was the third straight for Mrs. Somerville in this race. In 1931, Mr. N. Laing rode her Annapolis home and last year, the same Mr. Bassett piloted Tereus to the finish ahead of the field.

Second today was Kim, the property of Mrs. F. M. Gould, while Mrs. John Hay Whitney's San Romolo was third. Thus the women owners filled the principal money places.

Billy Barton Sees Race.

Among those who witnessed the race was Billy Barton, the famous steeplechaser himself, now 11 years old. The veteran, looking as slick as a 2-year-old, was paraded through the stretch before the race, led the field to the post and then watched the action from the infield.

Mrs. Somerville received, besides the cash award, a piece of plate donated by the Recognized Hunts and Mr. Bassett won a replica of the Hunt Cup donated by the Eastern Horse Club.

In the vulgar betting, which just must go on, Battleship paid a $20.10 mutuel, which was aided by a poor condition race here earlier in the meeting.

Battleship was never far from the leader. Boniface was first to set the pace and was fencing well before going down in a crash at the sixteenth jump. It was at this point that Battleship and Kim took up their front fight which was to last until the finish. There was little to choose between them coming over the last jump, but Battleship pulled away on the flat approaching the wire. San Romolo came from far back to take third.

Bandit, ridden by Rigan McKinney, fell at the water jump the second time around. The gentleman rider barely escaped serious injury when he was struck in the back by a horse's leg. However, the jockey slid along the grass and, like the other fallen riders, was only shaken up. Bandit suffered severe injuries which may result in his destruction.

Sunday, the Unionists engage the Ballston Fire Department team at 3 on the Ballston diamond, and they also face a Department League argument Monday, making three in a row for Matty Mattare's nine.

PEEDEEQUE, in closest attendance of the pacemaker and saving a lot of ground when the leader went wide into the home stretch, responded stoutly to punishment and gained command inside the closing furlong to win under pressure. TAUNTON circled around his field in the last three furlongs, finished with a rush. RHYMING galloped away a half mile before the start when unseating his rider, was rushed to the front, but was poorly handled all during the stretch run after coming very wide. MATHIAS, forwardly placed, struck a soft spot inside the closing furlong, stumbled and then could not recover quick enough to hold his position. SILVER ARCH finished fast after racing greenly in the first quarter mile. The others were outrun.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:41. Off at 2:41½. Winner, P. H. Faulconer's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—INSTIGATOR, $3.60, $2.40, $2.40; SUE JONES, $3.40, $3.60; ACCOLADE, $9.20.

INSTIGATOR, given a mild breathing spell when leaving the back stretch, responded stoutly to range alongside SUE JONES when straightened into the home stretch and under capable handling was up in the last sixteenth mile. SUE JONES, rushed into command after the first quarter mile, was taken out into safer footing during the stretch run and continued stoutly. ACCOLADE saved much ground all the way, and finished in determined fashion. HIS WAY gained steadily on the outside in the final half mile. DOORKEEPER showed a good effort. MORDROM was used up early. GOLDEN STORM tired.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800. The Aspirant (first division). For 3-year-old maidens. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:09. Off at 3:11½. Winner, Mrs. J. H. MACK SENNETT, rated close to the leaders and saving ground at the turn, finished resolutely on the inside during the stretch run and was up in the closing strides. COLIGNY, displaying good speed when hustled to the front, was kept out in the firmer footing, resisted repeated efforts from CRUISING and then held on stoutly. CRUISING, following in close pursuit of COLIGNY, weakened inside the final furlong after making stout bids. POLONIAN lacked early speed and could never threaten. STURDY broke slowly and showed dull speed thereafter. MOUNTAIN RIVER had speed in the initial furlongs and was not persevered with when he tired.

WEATHER, CLOUDY.

BATTLESHIP, rated under steadying restraint while in the first flight, moved up stoutly going to the seventeenth fence, were BONIFACE II down after the eighteenth jump and responding to mild punishment at the last jump, outfinished KIM. Latter, reserved for two miles, exhibited sensational speed, was on practically even terms with the winner at the final fence, but was outrun on the flat. SAN ROMOLO raced strongly all the way and outlasted GREATOREX. Latter went well placed, but was no match for the others. POINT BREEZE raced far back all the way. MON CHER, trailed all the way and failed to respond when whipped. BANDIT raced fairly well placed, but was sixth fence and ruptured his back and legs. NORTHWOOD broke down and was pulled up after the tenth fence. BONIFACE II, ANNAPOLITAN and DRAPEAU fell at the sixteenth jump.

VOTE, taken under mild restraint while DARK LAW and BLACK TARGET alternated in setting the pace, swung around the pair when straightened into the home stretch and under capable handling was up in the last sixteenth mile. BLACK TARGET, who got taken out of his racing room when DARK LAW drifted over in the final furlong, could not get to the leaders when securing clear racing room. WILLIAM T. furlongs, could not get to the leaders when securing clear racing room. WILLIAM T. would not extend himself and pulled up very sore. CATERER and TAYABIT tired.

STORM, crowded over with the first start, was straightened away on the back stretch after attempting to bear out at the first turn, slipped through on the inside of AXENTEA to take command and held away thereafter. JIMMY D., going forwardly placed, continued gamely in the final drive, but was no match for the winner. LIGHT BREEZE worked her way up on the outside and finished gamely next the inner rail to the end. GADABOUND was rushed up on the inside early in the back stretch but tired badly when reaching the home stretch. TOO LATE was pinched back when the break came, and then showed a very poor effort.

TOWEE, at home in the going and moving clear shortly after the break, was taken out into the middle of the track when reaching the home stretch and holding on stoutly lasted to stall off FERVID. Latter, outrun in the early stages, finished with a belated rush on the outside. BALLY BAY forced a steady pace, served a lot of ground entering the home stretch and held on stoutly. MEXICO saved ground at the finish, but resented punishment, but could not make up any ground. LOUGH FORT showed speed for five furlongs. CHLO BOY broke slowly and was unable to reach the leaders. EXCEED showed a flash of early speed. MARCH STEP did not fancy the footing.

Latter, favored by improved handling, circled his field when permitted to settle in his best stride, and fought it out gamely. DARK VISION, prominently placed from the start, was taken out in the stretch and finished gamely. PIMLICO RACE TRACK, MAY 11.

DEAR AL:

Although the track was good at the conclusion of today's card, additional showers are expected tomorrow and it looks like the Preakness will be run over a muddy course. My friend, "I" Johnson, slips you his selections for tomorrow. They are: Marge, Silver Scepter, Abdul II, Ward In Chancery, Don Pedro, If Ida, Air Pilot, Bubola. I had four winners yesterday—Peedeeque, Instigator, Mack Sennett and Storm. Here's some for tomorrow. BILL.

FIRST RACE—SUN MONK seems as good a guess as anything in this field. Has worked fairly well and has good breeding. May win at the first try. REPEAL ran an improved race the last time and could improve. MAE FALLON for the show.

SECOND RACE—MY FERGUS finally finds one that may suit him. Figures several lengths ahead of this cheap field. TRENTONIAN ran a fair race today behind Storm and may make a money appearance. HIE-AWAY comes off the jumps, but can't be overlooked entirely.

THIRD RACE—DANIEL SCOT appears to have an edge on what this jumping field offers. Has had conditioning and seems dropped into the right spot. CURTAIN CALL did well the other day and is a second money proposition. ABDUL II for the show.

FOURTH RACE—TRUE SWEEP was a fair sort last year and holds whatever margin of class there is here. WARD IN CHANCERY is getting right up there these days. GRAND ACRE is the sleeper. Works well and races poorly.

FIFTH RACE—ALL ROWES has had two trips to the post here and is now ready for better things. No standout, but worth a play. MONEL and DON PEDRO for the rest. The latter has been tipped twice and may make trouble.

SIXTH RACE—LODORUS did everything asked in that last test and was not extended. Seems capable of taking care of these. IF IDA chased a classy one home the last time and figures second best. CHATTERDOO for the show.

SEVENTH RACE—VISHNU has won several races where he failed to stand out. Now let's see if he can give away gobs of weight and take this. CANTORIA and AIR PILOT for the other money places.

EIGHTH RACE—ANNIMESSIC, a cousin of Rehoboth, is my choice in the final. SOEUR BLANCHE and POLAR BRUSH for the rest.

Boilermaker, 3-10, Loses at Churchill

Churchill Downs, May 11 (A.P.).—One of the most glaring upsets of the current meeting took place this afternoon when E. R. Bradley's Boilermaker, a 3-to-10 shot in the mutuel betting, was defeated by A. B. Gallagher's Pancoast in the West Point Purse, a 7-furlong dash which featured the day's card. The winner paid $34.82 for $2.

Boilermaker, for a time this spring highly regarded as a Kentucky Derby candidate, was considered a standout by the public, and the son of Bubbling Over, himself a Kentucky Derby winner, was literally backed off the boards.

Capital Angler Lands 7¾-Pound Bonefish

Miami Beach, Fla., May 11.—J. H. Wilkins, of Washington, D. C., in Miami Beach for the early summer fishing season, landed a 7¾-pound bonefish while fishing in lower Biscayne Bay near Miami Beach. The bonefish is rated as the greatest fighter of all game fish, at least in these waters, despite its comparative light weight, and very few of them are caught. Mr. Wilkins' catch was exceptionally large, being within half a pound of the record fish of the season in Miami Beach.

Mr. Wilkins, of the Wilkins Coffee Co., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. F. H. Walker, at her home on Palm Island, in Miami Beach.

MARYLAND AND G. W. NINES FACE V. M. I. AND BROOKLYN

Georgetown To Battle Boston

2 Terp Players Are Suspended After Sandlot Play.

BURTON SHIPLEY, coach of the University of Maryland baseball team, announced last night that Lymon McAboy, utility infielder, and Lloyd Jones, regular catcher, have been suspended for the remainder of the season for infraction of athletic rules and accordingly will not play against V. M. I. today.

Both players participated in the opening game of the Capital City League Wednesday, playing for the Miller team. Maryland's athletic code forbids players to perform in any but collegiate games.

While the Terps are wrangling with the Cadets at College Park, Georgetown's diamonders will be battling Boston College in Beantown. Yesterday the Hilltoppers absorbed a 13-3 trimming at the hands of Providence College.

Tonight George Washington's Colonials entertain Brooklyn College, of New York, at Griffith Stadium. Victory for the District nine will bring its average for the season to .500, three wins and as many losses. G. W. jolted Salem College Wednesday night, winning out in the eighth inning with an eleven-run rally that provided the margin of its 14-12 victory over the visitors.

Davidson to Take Mound.

Ray Davidson, of Maryland, who attracted wide attention earlier in the week by shutting out Washington and Lee, 4-0, will attempt to duplicate the feat this afternoon. The Generals obtained five measly hits off his portside slants, and at no time did they seriously threaten to score. McGuire will replace Jones behind the plate. No starting pitcher has been named by Coach Ed Morris of G. W., nor has he any idea of who the finishing moundsman will be. Johnny Fenlon, the handy man of the club, who has been sick, is expected to resume his post at the hot corner.

Brooklyn boasts a record of four victories and one defeat for the season. Johnny Bittner and Si Kleiner are its outstanding pitchers and one of the two will oppose the home batters. Bittner has granted only three hits and fanned seventeen opponents in fourteen innings thus far. Kleiner won his last game, 1-0, holding the rival aggregation to a paltry bingle.

Preceding the fray will be the preliminary heats of the first annual playground relay championships. Approximately 500 athletes will compete. The 160 boys remaining eligible for the finals to be held next week will receive sweatshirts.

Other events on today's college program include Georgetown's tennis match with New York U. at the Hilltop, and more racqueting between G. W. and Johns Hopkins, and Maryland and Pittsburgh. Georgetown's match with the Panthers, scheduled yesterday, was postponed because of wet courts.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

St. Louis, Mo., May 11.

THE Washington ball club, which came out of the East 12 days ago with a four-game winning streak and fond ambitions of cutting a wide swath through the West, finds itself with four victories and four defeats after eight games on the tour. Not so good.

Earl Whitehill told 'em so last night. A few of his pals were trying to console the left-hander for his defeat yesterday after pitching seven shut-out innings. "That was tough luck, Earl," they said.

"Tough luck, hell," said Whitehill. "We've gotta win those games. We can't be losing to clubs like this. Those Yankees are coming down here and knock a club like the Browns stiff. That's the only tough luck about it. We should beat this kind of club, and if we don't it's our own fault."

Far From Being Poor Loser.

Whitehill came to the Nats from Detroit with the reputation of being a poor loser. If he is a poor loser, the Nats can stand more like him. No ball player on the club wants to win any more than Whitehill, and, if he's a poor loser, Washington fans at least have the consolation that he's in there trying.

Out there on the pitching mound, the stocky left-hander is the personification of diligence. That he turns and glowers at the man who makes an error behind him is quite excusable. Whitehill wants to win and expects every man to do his part and when there's a slip-up in his defense, he feels he's entitled to a withering look or a caustic remark, especially when he's willing to take the rap if the fault is his own.

Out in Detroit the other day, amid loud boos from Detroit fans, Whitehill gave the Tigers 12 hits and only one run. He was in a hole throughout the game, but he never wavered. A pitcher who confines 12 hits to one run is out there working, and that's the way Whitehill pitches. He can't become enthused over an even break for the Nats in the West.

McGowan Carries Orders Too Far.

Umpire McGowan behind the plate, and Umpire Ormsby at first base, were holding frequent and apparently serious conferences during the ball game.

"What was it all about?" McGowan was asked.

McGowan laughed. "It was funny. Ormsby was telling the players to snap it up between innings, according to Harridge's orders. But he was leaving the base lines and going over into the Washington dugout to tell 'em to hustle. I told him he was overdoing it. That he shouldn't leave the base line.

"Here's what he told me. 'For eight years they've been telling me to show some pep out there and get the players to hustle. Now, when I start to do it, you tell me I'm overdoing it. Try and stop me now.'"

Goslin Claims Levey Fastest.

This fellow Ben Chapman, of the Yankees, may be the speed king of the American League, but Goose Goslin doesn't think so.

"I'll take Jim Levey, of the Browns, for mine," said the Goose. "He'll give Chapman a yard at 100 yards and beat him. I saw him play football with the Marines, and I played two years with him on the Browns, and he's the fastest thing in baseball.

"They had a field day in New York two years ago, when Chapman beat Carl Reynolds by two steps at 100 yards. I had $200 ready to bet that Chapman couldn't take Levey at the same distance, and I'd have won it if Bill Friel, the business manager of the Browns, had let him run."

Mrs. Mack Myers Wins Lame Duck Golf Play

Mrs. Mack Myers, playing in the rain, proved yesterday that two clubs are as good as a whole set when she employed a midiron and a No. 6 iron to register a 48—8—40 and carry off top honors in the ladies' lame duck tournament at the Manor Golf Club.

Mrs. D. M. McPherson won second prize with 54—12—42, using a mashie and brassie.

In the second class, Mrs. G. J. James set the pace with 52—14—38, while Mrs. R. E. Jones was second with 52—13—39.

over the bronzed Adonis' title claims, act and all.

Dusek was carried to Emergency Hospital after the bout, where X-rays were taken of his leg, damaged in the fall, which, it was feared, was broken.

Dick Raines struggled 45 minutes with Gino Garibaldi to their third draw of the week. Raines grunted and groaned every time Garibaldi poked him, and once it seemed that the Texas herdsman would pick up his bawl and refuse to play any more.

Rudy Dusek pinned Tom Alley in 26½ minutes with a rocking-chair hold. No tickets were issued on a daily double, however. Chief Chewaki tossed Lou Plummer in 8½ minutes with body slams and Ell Pischer used 15 of the 30 minutes allotted him to throw Martin Zikoff.

Eastern and Tech Nines To Clash

Sullivan and Turner Likely Mound Selections Today.

ALTHOUGH confined to his bed for two days during the past week with sinus trouble and still far from being entirely recovered, Charley Guyon, Eastern coach, is expected to be on hand today directing the team against Tech in a game that will have a distinct bearing on the outcome of the interhigh school race.

"I'll sit on the bench until I fall off," Guyon said last night, spiking rumors that he would retire from active coaching for the remainder of the year.

Whatever difference exists between the two teams is slightly in the Manuel Trainers' favor. Tech will be especially difficult to stop if Eddie Turner is nominated for mound duty.

The smiling youngster stopped Western with little trouble when the Red Sox threatened to take the verdict last week, and although downstairs in the series standings, Western is by no means a weak sister.

Eastern, while a great team in non-series games, has failed to come up to expectations in the championship race. Too many errors and too few hits have marred its performances. However, like so many sticks of dynamite, the Eastern bats may break out with a salvo of base hits at any time.

Joe Sullivan, who turned in a bit of fancy hurling for the Lincoln Parkers in the Central game after going to Cecil Hale's relief, may get the starting assignment today. Guyon was not certain of his pitching choice last night. He figures he will have to use all of them sooner or later and that there is little use for worrying about the one who starts.

Secrets of Third-Basing Are Told by Ossie Bluege

In view of the opening this week of the Capital City League and feeling that timely articles concerning the duties and worth of various members of a baseball team might be of benefit to those playing in the league, The Post herewith presents the fifth of a series of stories by regulars of the Washington team.

By OSSIE BLUEGE
(Nats' Third Baseman).

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 10.—More than any other infielders, the third baseman must develop the underhand throw. The toss to first base of course is longer than the second baseman's and the shortstop's throw and consequently the third baseman must get the ball away from him quickly.

Of course when the third baseman gets the ball on the big hop, with plenty of time to heave it, the overhand throw is the safest.

Almost every ball player patterns himself after some player he admires, but my case was a bit strange. The fellow I chose as my pattern was a third baseman who played on the sandlots in Chicago with me named Joe Pechos, who could never break into the big leagues, but the way he could field bunts was miraculous, and I set out to copy his style.

The best practice for fielding bunts is to lay a half dozen balls down near the third base line and dash in from your regular position, learning to grab the ball with one hand and sling it to first with a snap throw. By the time you've fielded the half dozen, you know what's wrong with yourself.

The third baseman should always get together with the pitcher before the game on the handling of bunts.

Like every other base, tagging the runner at third calls for only one rule. Put your glove in front of the bag and keep it there and no runner is going to slide under or around you.

Like every other infielder, the third baseman should know what type of ball is being pitched. You can play in closer when the pitcher gives a right field hitter a slow ball that he is most likely to pull into right, and you play deeper when a right field hitter gets a fast ball that he is liable to slice down your way.

There is no set rule about playing ground balls. You've got to charge in for the slow dribblers, and you've got to make sure you aren't caught in between hops on the hard hit balls. In many cases, it is wise to back up on hard hits and take the big hop, because the ball gets to you so fast you usually have plenty time for the throw.

Low-Board Diving Title Meet Tonight

The Ambassador pool will be the scene of the District A. A. U. low board diving championships and dual meet between junior teams representing the host club and Y. M. C. A. tonight, starting at 8 o'clock.

John Broaddus, holder of three diving titles, will attempt to add to his laurels tonight. A large field will oppose him.

Outstanding entrants in the women's division are Marie Duval, Lois Bates and Lenora Taube, all former or current champions.

National Capital Loop Opens Season Today

The loop is the youngest of the week-day organizations, but regarded as one of the strongest. In addition to the above, Pepco, C. & P. Telephone and Standard Oil make up the roster.

Star Cup Playoff Won by Mrs. Davis

Mrs. J. E. Davis, of the Army and Navy Country Club, crashed into the women's golf spotlight yesterday at Congressional by turning in a 96—14—82 net to defeat Mrs. J. O. Rhyne, of the home club, and Mrs. Katherine May, of Kenwood, in the playoff for the Star Cup championship.

Mrs. Rhyne, with 94—11—83, took second prize, while Mrs. May eliminated herself by soaring over the 100 mark in medal play, but won third low net prize.

Mrs. J. F. Dowdall, of Congressional, captured the fourth place playoff from Mrs. D. C. Hickey, after being forced to play an extra nine because of their tie at the finish of the regulation 18.

Georgetown Nine Bows, 13 to 3

Hoyas Get 7 Hits and Make 10 Errors as Providence Wins.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 11.—Georgetown's baseball team collapsed before the devastating attack of Providence College today and the marauding Friars had little trouble banging out a 13-to-3 victory for their seventh straight in their march toward another Eastern title.

The Friars walloped two Georgetown pitchers for 13 hits and scored in all but the first and eighth innings. Chief Marsella, Friar right fielder, banged out a home run to left center field in the fourth after Magion, the Friars' home-run king this season, had been intentionally passed ahead of him. Tebbettu, Providence catcher, collected a double and triple in five tripe to the plate and Madden also got a triple. Magion kept up his good work with two hits out of four times at bat.

TWO MODIFICATIONS SOUGHT BY P. U. C. IN PUBLIC UTILITY LAW

Wants Clear Jurisdiction on Intrastate Property of Phone Company.

The Public Utilities Commission has asked its counsel to include in the proposed modifications of the public utility act provisions to accord the District agency clear jurisdiction over intrastate property of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., it was learned yesterday. It also has asked for an amendment which will permit the assessment of litigation fees against utilities, just as the costs of public hearings are now imposed on them.

These two modifications are part of a four-point program which the commission plans to submit to Congress within the next few days. Corporation Counsel William W. Bride is completing drafts of the legislation, which will be submitted to the commission for approval the latter part of this week or early next week.

Restriction of Appeals.

The other two modifications, previously announced, call for a restriction of valuation appeals to judicial issues and for considerable liberalization of the "convenience and necessity" powers of the commission. The former would prevent the courts from reviewing engineering and accounting data in valuation appeals wherever the facts are supported by "substantial evidence."

Under the broader "convenience and necessity" clause the commission would have authority to pass upon all major extensions or retirements of Washington utilities. This amendment would practically give the utilities body control of the utilities' purse strings.

The commission's fight to wrest from the Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over depreciation charges of the local telephone company's intrastate property has heretofore been confined to the submision of briefs to the I. C. C. Modification of the public utility law, if effected, will give the commission the authority it desires regardless of the ruling of the I. C. C. in a case to be resumed at public hearing June 14.

Segregating Property.

Thomas R. Tate, chief valuation engineer of the commission, and his staff have been at work for the last several months separating interstate and intrastate property of the telephone company. This data will be used in the rate litigation now pending in the District Supreme Court and in any further action that may result from an I. C. C. decision or enactment of the public utility act amendment by Congress.

The commission recently asked the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to furnish certain data on depreciation charges and depreciable property, and it is understood that this information is now being prepared. While the I. C. C. authorized the District commission, along with State commissions, to pass upon this depreciation data before passing it along to the Federal agency, the District commission based its request solely on its own public utility act and purposely avoided mentioning the I. C. C. order.

Last year the commission tried to attach a rider on the District appropriations bill to enable it to tax utilities with the cost of litigation in which they are involved, but the attempt failed. Since then, however, the commission required the telephone company to defray the expenses of an inquiry it is making in connection with the telephone rate litigation.

Whitehurst Takes Road Builders Post

Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways in the District, took office as president of the American Road-builders Association yesterday, at a meeting in the organization's headquarters in the National Press Building.

Capt. Whitehurst has been active in the association for more than 10 years. He was formerly president of the city officials' division and succeeds Thomas Cutler, chief highway engineer of Missouri, as national president.

The widening of existing highways throughout the country was stressed as part of an active program soon to be launched.

LECTURER DECLARES MUSCLES THINK TOO

Dr. Jacobsen Says Baseball and Tennis Can Strain Athletes' Brains.

The big muscle-and-brawn boys—the heroes of campus and the dunces of classroom—may be suffering just as much mental strain in performing their athletic feats as the fellows who pass with honors in the higher academic arts.

This was indicated at the concluding session of the American Neurological Association yesterday at the Washington Hotel when Dr. Edmund Jacobson, of the University of Chicago, revealed that people "think" with their muscles as well as their brains.

When Jack Dempsey delivers an uppercut, when Bill Tilden administers a crashing service, when Babe Ruth hits a home run they do just as much brain work as when Einstein discovers a new dimension, it appears.

The mere thought of functioning with some particular part of the body results in the registration by the muscles in that section of the anatomy on a delicate machine, Dr. Jacobson showed. The mere thought of lifting a 10-pound weight with the right arm starts up an electric current in the muscle of that arm, the lecturer revealed.

When you talk the muscles of the tongue register the effect of cogitation, he showed, and when you relax utterly the mind is at complete rest because the muscles are at rest, he pointed out.

The American Neurological Society was one of thirteen constituent societies that met here this week in connection with the fifteenth session of the Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons.

The Association of American Physicians and the American Orthopedic Association concluded their sessions yesterday, bringing the entire medical assemblage to an end.

Oregon State Society To Hear W.D.B. Dodson

W. D. B. Dodson, executive secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Oregon State Society tonight at the Y. W. C. A.

Former Gov. Walter M. Pierce, of Oregon, and his wife, the former Oregon State librarian, and James Mott will be guests of honor.

RAINEY ADDRESSES ADVERTISING GROUP

Speaker of House Declares "From Now Every Day Will Be Better."

"From now on every day will be a better day," Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of the House of Representatives, told members of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at a banquet last night at the Mayflower Hotel, featuring their sixteenth annual meeting, which opened earlier in the day.

Speaker Rainey, although scheduled to be the honor guest at the dinner, was unable to reach the Capital last night by plane from Columbus because of poor flying weather. He spoke from Pittsburgh over the National Broadcasting Co., the speech being brought to the advertising men through amplifiers.

Mr. Rainey reviewed the reconstruction program now under way, explaining the bills that have been passed and their objects. Congress will not adjourn, he said, until the program is completed. Better times are just ahead, he said, but the people must not expect too much.

Called Persuasive Art.

The advertising men were entertained by John Charles Thomas, Metropolitan barytone; Countess Olga Albani, soprano, and the Revellers. Speaker Rainey was introduced by H. T. Ewald, chairman of the board of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

At the afternoon session, Stewart L. Mims, vice president of the J. Walter Thompson Co., conducted a symphony on "Creating Advertising in Times Like These." Advertising, like politics, belongs to the persuasive arts and will live in proportion as it is successfully persuasive," Mr. Mims said.

F. G. Hubbard, vice president and treasurer of Fuller Smith & Ross, Inc., told of an idea that produced more than $500,000 worth of advertising in twelve weeks for the canning industry. A description of how a new product was exploited in the oil field was given by Shelley E. Tracey, president of Tracey-Locke-Dawson, Inc.

Trade Upturn Claimed.

In an address opening the convention, Mr. Ewald declared that the upward swing is under way and that the work of the administraton in stimulating the return of confidence and encouraging buying is already producing results.

"Facts indicate that consistent advertisers have suffered less than the nonadvertisers," Mr. Ewald said. "The manufacturer is discovering that production is only the first step in the building of a business. He is discovering the importance of consumption in the economic scheme."

Expressing sympathy with the purpose of the Government to discourage and prevent false or unfair advertising, the executive board of the association declared that "it will be glad to cooperate with any constructive legislation that does not hamper legitimate advertising and a reasonably persuasive appeal to the public."

The meeting will continue through today.

Attempt to Upset Elkins Will Begins

An attempt to upset the will of Mrs. Hallie Davis Elkins, prominent socially here and in West Virginia, was begun yesterday in the District Supreme Court when her grandson, Stephen B. Elkins 3d, filed a protest declaring that Mrs. Elkins was of unsound mind and was subject to undue influence when she wrote the instrument.

The will, which disposed of an estate that is valued at approximately $1,000,000, named former United States Senator Davis Elkins as the beneficiary of a $300,000 trust fund, and gave the balance of the estate, excluding several small bequests, to a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Elkins Hitt.

Stephen B. Elkins 3d was given $50,000 in railroad bonds, and a like amount was given to Davis-Elkins College. The charge filed yesterday was that Mrs. Elkins' son, Davis Elkins, and George F. Snyder, of Washington, subjected Mrs. Elkins to undue influence when the will was being made.

D. C. COMMISSIONER BATTLE STILL OPEN WITH END IN DOUBT

Rumor Farley Has Cut List Down to Five Denied in Official Quarters.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

The fight over the District Commissionership still is such a scrap that any one almost can get into the battle without being called a stranger.

The report that the smiling, genial Postmaster General had reduced the scores-on list of candidates to five and submitted a favored list to the President was denied yesterday by persons close to Postmaster General James A. Farley.

So far as Mr. Farley is concerned—assuming the President is going to await his recommendation—the Commissioners will not be named this week, although they may be named next. It would not be surprising if the matter were let go until the closing hours of Congress, or at least until the President feels he would not jeopardize his nationally and internationally important legislative program by turning down any one of the numerous candidates who have been advanced by senators and members of the House, or who have succeeded in persuading members of one house or the other to indorse them.

Despite the fact that the official list has not been boiled down to one or seven, from whom the President will select two, the names of some few of the scores of the active candidates continue to boil to the top of the pot.

These include Harry King, John A. Korman, Melvin C. Hazen, Martin J. McNamara, Malcolm S. McConihe, Ernest G. Walker and John W. Childress. Dark horses include a lawyer, a hotel manager who is backed by one of the most influential senators, and one or two more whose names have not been disclosed.

Editor's note—The Post regrets that a misstatement of fact appeared in our issue of May 10 in connection with comment concerning John W. Childress, former chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, whose name has been presented to the President for consideration as one of the District of Columbia Commissioners. The Post stated that Mr. Childress had been reappointed as a member of the Utilities Commission, but that his nomination had been refused by the Senate. The facts are that Mr. Childress did not seek reappointment to the position to which he had been appointed by President Coolidge, but voluntarily resigned to accept an official position with the United States Lines. This resignation was tendered to and accepted by President Hoover more than two months before the expiration of the term for which Mr. Childress was confirmed.

Mr. Childress also declares that stories of local and national utility interests actively backing his candidacy are without foundation, adding that he doubts whether any person connected with either local or outside utility companies has any interest at all in who shall be appointed as members of this commission, since all utility matters come before the Public Utilities Commission and not before the Board of District of Columbia Commissioners.

Bill Would Extend District Authority

The District Commissioners would be given power to make municipal ordinances and regulations, similar to the power vested in the average city council, in a bill introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Republican), Michigan.

The Michigan representative argued that in the past Congress has transferred such administrative authority to the local municipal government, and the need for greater powers of self-government is greater here now than ever."

THREE MORE BANKS STUDY TAKING PART IN 'SPOKANE PLAN'

Washington Savings Directors Will Vote Today on Joining Project.

Three more restricted Washington banks have the "Spokane plan" of reorganization under consideration, it was announced yesterday. Directors of Washington Savings Bank will vote today on a decision of its reorganization committee that it join the "Spokane plan" suggested to restricted local institutions by a reorganization committee of District National Bank and with which the reorganization committee of Potomac Savings Bank is in substantial accord.

Wilbur H. Zepp, vice president and conservator of United States Savings Bank, said that while officers of this institution are considering the foregoing plan they had not yet made a definite decision, pending discussion of the plan with the bank's directors and stockholders. Epps L. Norris, vice president, cashier and conservator of Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank, made practically the same announcement.

Senate Approves Change.

United States Savings Bank was organized in 1906. It is located at 2000 Fourteenth street northwest. In 1910 Col. Wade H. Cooper, its present president, came here from Nashville, Tenn., to assume charge of this institution.

Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank was organized in 1922 and opened for business at 2020 Rhode Island avenue northeast. It moved to its present location, 2027 Rhode Island avenue northeast, in 1924. Its first president, P. P. Clark, was succeeded by A. S. Henderson in 1923.

Washington Savings Bank, at Tenth street and Grant place northwest, was organized in 1917. John D. Leonard was its first president and was succeeded by Thomas E. Jarrell, its present chief executive.

Reorganization of other than national banks in the District would be possible under an amendment to the emergency bank conservation act unanimously approved yesterday by the Senate and sent to the House.

Amends Emergency Act.

The bill amends one section of the emergency act by substituting the word "banks" for the definition "National Banking Association."

Under the present language, Treasury officials said only national banks in the District would be permitted to reorganize in accordance with the act.

As this restriction was never intended, the bill approved yesterday was recommended by the Treasury. The following letter was sent to the Senate Banking and Currency Committee:

"The Treasury considers it essential in contemplating plans for reorganization for certain banks in the District of Columbia that the provisions of section 207 be made applicable to these banks and therefore recommends the immediate enactment of the proposed bill."

Senator Fletcher (Democrat), Florida, obtained unanimous Senate consent yesterday to lay aside the pending gasoline tax extension, in order that the bill could be approved.

Reforestation Recruit Expires at Walter Reed

Roland E. Cooper, young reforestation recruit at Camp Roosevelt, Luray, Va., died yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital after a week-long battle against pneumonia. His death is the first in the ranks of the civilian forest army.

Cooper, whose home was in Baltimore, was brought to the hospital from the Luray camp last Thursday. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Cooper, 715 George street, Baltimore.

JUSTEMENT WINS RENOVIZING DESIGN

Drawings by All Architects in Civic Contest Will Be Exhibited.

Louis Justement, architect, of 744 Jackson place northwest, has been selected as winner of the design contest of the Renovize Washington campaign.

His design will be used in renovizing the shanty at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue, and he will have charge of the reconstructoin of the little house.

Honorable mention was given Ben C. Flourney, of 744 Jackson place northwest; B. Taylor Simmons, jr., of George Washington University, and Hilyard Robinson, of 634 Gizard street northwest. All the drawings are to be placed on exhibition next week.

Because of the excellence of the drawings submitted, the decisions were close, it was learned. As one judge expressed it, "We could have selected practically any design submitted without going very far wrong."

The judges, appointed by Francis P. Sullivan, president of the District Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, were: T. J. D. Fuller, chairman; Irwin Porter and Toxaway Bronte Everman. Horace W. Peaslee acted as professional adviser and the committee was further assisted by advice on construction costs by C. Wohlgemuth, jr., and on landscape settings by Miss Rose Greely, landscape architect.

Designs also were submitted by John J. Albert, Frances M. Beede, J. E. Biberstein, Archie P. Burgess, R. C. Danis, Alice S. Dodge, Carl P. Dumbolton, Edward T. Dunlap, Arthur B. Farnham, Verna Flagg, L. B. Harding, C. E. Haupt, Arthur B. Heaton, I. D. James, Dana B. Johannes, jr., Mary Frances Knee, J. H. Lapish, Thomas H. Locraft, Wallace P. Lynn, Maurice S. May, C. Wayne Mead, Carroll Meigs, Walter Peter, Gilbert L. Rodier, Schreier & Patterson, Smith & Edwards, F. L. Soars, Edward Spano and Dick Sutton.

Mr. Justement will confer with the supply men and labor leaders who have volunteered material and labor for the renovizing and reconstruction is expected to start early next week.

$10,000 Damage Asked For Cab Crash Injury

Philip A. Biegler, 1224 E. street southeast, yesterday, in the District Supreme Court, filed suit against L. H. Crawford, of the Diamond Cab Co., for $10,000 for alleged personal injuries.

Through Attorney Godfrey L. Munter, Biegler claimed he had been seriously hurt last February, when he was struck by a cab at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

BULK OF DEALERS SETTLE BEER TAX IN MONTHLY LIMIT

Richards Reports Only 23 Failed to File Return Before Deadline.

With all but 23 beer dealers accounted for, Tax Assessor William P. Richards said that there probably will be no revocation of licenses for failure to pay the monthly tax of $1 a barrel until police have checked on these temporary licensees, none of whom have telephones.

The mail yesterday brought a batch of last-minute returns and a check of records showed that more reports had been filed than previously counted because chain stores had reported sales for all branches on a single report. The Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., for instance, filed returns for 64 stores on a single report.

After all reports on hand had been checked yesterday afternoon, it was found that but 32 had failed to pay the tax. Nine of these were reached by telephone and reported that they had obtained licenses so late in April that no sales were made until May 1 or later.

The tax total yesterday was $13,786, and the tax assessor estimated that the final report would show receipts of less than $15,000 for the first partial month's sale of beer in Washington.

Meanwhile, the Beverage Permits Board issued 27 more temporary permits.

A test case in court was predicted after the board refused to issue a permit to Raymond T. Johnson, of 4200 Wisconsin avenue, because the property was owned by Chris Heurich, jr., treasurer of the Heurich Brewery. Mr. Heurich insisted that he owned the property personally and that the brewery had no investment in it.
